New road--or 'strangulation'

Within the space of an hour yesterday morning, the concept of a new Granite City access road moved from a murky proposal perhaps seven years distant to the prospect of almost immediate implementation, at least in limited form.

In a free-wheeling discussion between city officials and citizens at the October meeting of the Quad-City Prayer Breakfast Group at Charlie's Restaurant, participants indicated they realize the local community could pay a severe penalty if there is inaction or delay in remedying rapidly worsening traffic congestion.

It was noted that Granite City has relatively easy access to other parts of Madison County and the metropolitan region, but that its inner connections are limited, with most traffic funneled along Madison Avenue or Fehling Road into Nameoki Road.

"Inadequate, inconvenient traffic flow continues to strangle Downtown Granite City and we'll have the same kind of strangulation along the Nameoki Road shopping centers unless we act quickly," one of those at the breakfast commented.

Among the penalties foreseen are a sharp limit on the sales tax revenue that can be derived to help finance operation of the city government, if the potential sales volume at Granite City stores is prevented from rising by making it difficult to reach them, it was contended.

Among the possibilities discussed was temporary resurfacing of the available right-of-way along the eastern edge of the railroad tracks that intersect Granite City west of the shopping centers.

Possible one-way access to West Pontoon Road west of Nameoki Road is under study, the route later connecting with Fehling Road, or the area near Michigan Avenue and Benton Street, or 25th Street or possibly a street close to Granite City's central business district.

In most cases, needed land could be obtained free or by retiring estate debt, it was asserted.

Financial prospects include 70 per cent federal funding under a relatively new law, borrowing against future motor fuel tax funds or future sales tax receipts, contributions to a special fund or pledges by developers, the discussion brought out.

Although a fully-curbed-and-guttered new thoroughfare along the railroad right-

United drive opens

With hundreds in attendance at the kickoff dinner last night, the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign is officially under way today. Solicitors are seeking pledges for $425,000 to help finance 1975 operations of the 18 member agencies.

Calls for increased contributions were made by George Pulanias, general campaign chairman, Paul H. Kelly, United Way chairman, and Bill H. Terrell, master of ceremonies at the dinner, held at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Pulanias is vice president-administrator of Granite City Steel, Kelly is manager of the Granite City plant of A. O. Smith Corp. and Terrell is area manager of the Franklin Life Insurance Co.

Guest speaker was Larry Wilson, director of professional scouting for the St. Louis football Cardinals and an eight-time all-league offensive back.

Recall City football incident as well as other occurrences in his lifetime, Wilson stressed that no one is immune from adversity but that United Way agencies are geared to help people solve their problems.

Prayers were offered by Msgr. Lawrence J. Mattingly, pastor of St. Elizabeth Catholic (Continued on Page 16)

Venice city administrator

Thomas Fields, 212 Abbott St., Venice, was hired by the Venice City Council Tuesday night as an administrative assistant to Venice Mayor William "Mike" Ebersoldt.

Fields' major area of responsibility will be to research and assist the city in applying for federal and state financial grants. He is to be paid a salary of $8,000 plus a $50 per month expense allowance.

"I feel that Tom will prove to be of real value to our city. There is, I believe, a lot of federal monies available that we can get to help improve our city in many areas such as police grants, money for senior citizens, unemployment, and a wealth of other areas he can check into," Mayor Ebersoldt said.

Fields, 25, is the son of Mrs.

Pat Fields, 212 Abbot St., Venice.

He graduated from Venice High School in 1967 and received a bachelor's degree in government at SIUE. Fields then earned a master's degree in Public Administration at Kent State in Ohio.

The late Dr. John E. Lee spoke to Fields, according to Mayor Ebersoldt, about two (Continued on Page 16)

Anniversary, 'family day' at Smith plant

The Granite City plant of the A. O. Smith Corporation will hold a Family Day program Sunday, Oct. 6, celebrating the 100th anniversary of the corporation.

The program for the employees and their families to be held at the Granite City plant site will include refreshments, carnival rides and games, music, product displays and special commemorative gifts.

This year not only represents the 100th anniversary of the A. O. Smith Corp., but also marks the 20th year of operation for the Granite City plant, which began production of automobile frames in the summer of 1954.

UNDISPUTED MAYOR OF STATE STREET

Louis Fashoff displays embossed matchbook bearing his unofficial title gained in a 'rump' election in the mid-1950s. The local businessman, widely known for his consistent efforts to aid area families in need and charitable organizations, will retire this month after 45 years in the radio-television sales and service field. He plans to travel, golf, fish and continue to work for worthy causes.

'Mayor' for fun, friend for real Benefactor to retire

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

A Madison woman with few means and no major appliances suddenly is faced with tragedy in her family and permanent care of eight grandchildren, ranging from toddlers to teenagers; a parent-teacher group with limited funds wants to help its school acquire new televisions for student use; and a group of citizens decides its time for the community to have its own mental health clinic and a crippled children's society.

In all four instances and in hundreds of similar cases over the years, individuals and organizations in need have "gone to see Louis at State Radio."

Born in Macedonia and transplanted to the United States in 1926, along with his mother and two brothers, Louis Fashoff has become an institution in Granite City during his 45 years in the radio-television sales and service business.

He is planning to retire from the business on Oct. 31, but "I'm not retiring from helping people or being active in the community," he stressed this week.

A volatile, compulsive talker, Louis matches his lengthy dissertations with action whenever and wherever assistance is needed.

He has owned State Radio and Television Co., at 1936 State St., since 1948, handling RCA and Whirlpool appliances, radios and televisions. Until this year, he had the exclusive RCA dealership in the Quad-Cities.

Louis started a radio service business in 1929 at 1330 Madison Ave., and followed with a store at 19th Street and Grand Avenue from 1932 until enlisting in the U. S. Army in 1941.

He served as a Signal Corps instructor until 1945 and upon release from the military opened a store in the Ralph Building at Niedringhaus and Cleveland.

Louis has been known as the "Mayor of State Street" since the mid-1950s when challenged in a "rump" election for a popularity vote by Anthony Michel, a longtime friend, fellow businessman and co-worker in numerous civic projects.

Floyd David Moss, president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board, this week denied rumors that he is about to resign.

Moss placed his home at 26 Victoria Drive up for sale, and they grew more persistent when Moss entered St. Elizabeth Hospital Sunday.

Many believed Moss' health was to be the reason for his resignation. The village board president is to undergo surgery tomorrow for a tumor on his colon. He is expected to remain in the hospital most of next week.

Fake bomb was meant as joke

Two men were fined $15 each yesterday after pleading guilty to disorderly conduct charges which stemmed from a "practical joke which got out of hand," in the words of one Granite City detective.

Police first were notified at 1:55 p.m. yesterday by an employee of the Granite City Car Wash, 3683 Nameoki Road, behind K-Mart, that an auto had just gone through the car wash and in the back seat was what looked like six sticks of dynamite, a battery and a clock, wired together and in a red box.

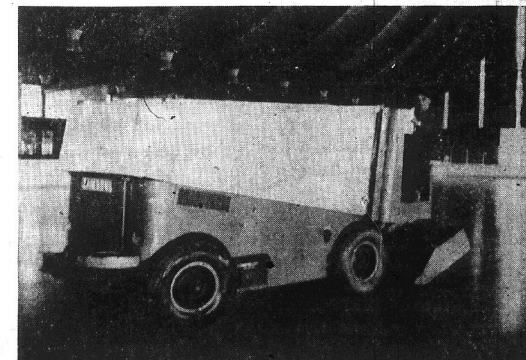

Police cars converged on the car wash, but the auto had already been driven away. Officers were given a description of the car and the license numbers and broadcast it to all law enforcement offices in this area.

Police searched for about five minutes before locating the auto in the K-Mart parking lot. The driver and the red box were not inside the car, it was reported.

Police feared a man may have taken a bomb inside K-Mart and began searching the store. The box was found inside (Continued on Page 16) won," Louie said. "One man brought his family up from Madison, to vote for me. Everyone voted, kids and all."

In reviewing some of the prebelling techniques, one finds it prudent not to inquire too closely into what methods were employed by either "candidate."

"The title kind of stuck and when we cut the ribbon to open Bill Burns Cafeteria, the newspaper listed me as mayor, as well as Don Partney," Louie stated with pride. "Tony Michel never challenged me again."

Michel, owner and operator of Michel Jewelry and Gift Shop, 1942 State St., and Passhof, are members of the Granite City Optimist Club and other civic service groups.

Louie carries around satin-finish matchbooks, embossed with "Mayor Louis Passhof," and business cards containing all the usual information, but discreetly noting at the bottom his honorary title.

It was learned that the established banking institutions are not immune to his fervent personality as two Granite City banks alternate their services by having his unique matchbook covers printed without charge.

His kindness and compassion for those needing help have been noted by many throughout the years.

A washer and dryer were delivered to the home of a Madison woman who became the "instant" guardian of a large brood of grandchildren, two still in the diaper stage, a few years ago.

Clothing items, food and many other gifts were received by the family from all segments of the community after the story was reported. None was as immediate nor more appreciated than Passhof's contribution.

His public address systems, loaned and installed without charge, have echoed with voices of hundreds of youth athletic events, including the first opening game ceremonies of the Namek Little League more than 15 years ago.

Passhof was among a small group of people who believed the Quad-City area was entitled to its own mental health clinic and did battle to secure its establishment here some years ago.

He also was one of the first to be contacted for help when the Granite City Crippled Children's Society was organized. Later, he was elected president.

His office walls are emblazoned with plaques and certificates from Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, March of Dimes, ROCA Young Men's Club (Citizen of the Month) and outstanding citizen citations from the United Way, Granite City 5th Anniversary Committee, ad infinitum.

Louie has traveled extensively, almost around the world, having visited South America, Europe, Hawaii, Canada and the Scandinavian countries. His retirement plans include revisiting most of the same locales, especially his favorite vacation haunts—the Caribbean.

He also will assist his wife, Virginia, in a real estate business and try to improve his golf game, without cheating.

The couple has a daughter, Carol Ann, an STUE graduate. The dealership will be taken over by Jim Vaughn, who has been employed in the service part of the business since 1951. He was responsible for establishing a full service area of the company in 1957.

"We plan to continue to operate the firm along the same lines—offering the public the same quality of service, products and prices," Vaughn said today.

Would a 70-30 Stevenson win push him toward White House?

By KEN WATSON

Press-Record

Springfield Bureau

The withdrawal of Massachusetts Sen. Edward "Ted" Kennedy from the 1976 Presidential picture has added a new dimension to the 1974 U. S. Senate race in Illinois.

By winning big in November, U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson could project himself into the ranks of potential Democratic White House nominees.

As in the past, Stevenson, 43, brushed off talk of a possible post on the national ticket two years hence.

But beneath the Stateshouse Dome the Stevenson demurrers are themselves shrugged off as just good politics.

It has long been taken for granted in Springfield that it is Stevenson's ambition to eventually reach the White House, a goal that twice eluded his illustrious father, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

It is felt, also, that the younger Stevenson's ambitions for reaching the presidency are even stronger now that Richard M. Nixon, who teamed with Dwight D. Eisenhower to turn back Stevenson in 1952 and 1956, has been ousted in disgrace.

Stevenson must be rated as a long-shot for President at this point, although he already shapes up as a serious possibility for Vice President, especially if someone like Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson should be nominated for the top spot.

Stevenson has tabbed Jackson as the front-runner at this point, and a Midwesterner with a famous name would obviously be an excellent running mate.

"Stevenson's immediate task is to establish himself as a strong vote-getter in his home state and in his own right."

He has won statewide races on three occasions, but each time there were circumstances that diluted the triumph.

In 1964, he led the field in the unique at-large election for all members of the Illinois House of Representatives. But this was attributed to name recognition and the Lyndon Johnson landslide win over Republican Barry Goldwater.

Two years later, he was the only one of three Democratic state candidates to win election. But he won the state treasurer's office by only 39,665, receiving 50.5 per cent of the vote to 49.5 per cent for Republican opponent Harris Rowe of Jacksonville.

That year, the Stevenson showing was overshadowed by Republican Charles H. Percy's landslide triumph over previously unbeatable Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas. Percy received 55.6 per cent of the vote to Douglas' 44.4 per cent.

In 1970, Stevenson did achieve a landslide victory in winning for U. S. senator, crushing Republican incumbent Sen. Tyler Smith, of Alton with a 545,336 plurality. Stevenson received over 57 per cent of the vote to over 42 per cent for Smith.

But Stevenson detractors attributed his big margin to the fact that Smith was a relatively weak opponent, having been opposed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie to fill out the term of the deceased Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Many observers credited the massive Stevenson showing to Ogilvie because of his sponsorship of Illinois' first state income tax.

"But this year Stevenson is pretty much on his own, and if he wins big the triumph will be considered a personal tribute."

Hardly anyone in Illinois political circles expects Stevenson to lose to little-known Republican challenger George Burdick.

The question is what kind of a plurality will be considered "big."

If Stevenson is going to impress national party leaders, he will probably have to surpass the terrific showing Republican Percy made in winning re-election in 1972. Then Percy clobbered Democrat Roman Pucinski, rolling up a 1,146,047 plurality and receiving 62.2 per cent of the vote.

At the Stateshouse, it is felt that Stevenson will have to capture from 65 to 70 per cent of the vote to be impressive personally in what is shaping up as a big Democratic year.

Recent polls have shown Stevenson approaching 70 per cent. But a home-stretch push by the Republican leadership on behalf of Burdick could sharply reduce this percentage.

Child case ruling

If the defendant in a spouse or child support case fails to appear in court, the defendant's "cash appearance bond" can be paid to the spouse or children.

That is the essence of an official opinion just issued by Attorney General William J. Scott. Scott's opinion was requested by Clark County State's Attorney Omer T. Shawler.

John and Charlotte Sobol, owners of John Sobol Realty, 2124 Pontoon Road, Granite City, were among the 110 Realtors from across the country who participated in the Interstate Referral Service National Convention held in St. Louis.

Interstate Referral Service is a national real estate marketing firm with headquarters in St. Louis. John Sobol Realty is the exclusive Interstate member in the Granite City and Collinsville areas.

The development of a complete personnel transfer package was announced at the convention. Called "Relocation Aid Kit," this package will include the services of a national moving company, a national hotel-motel chain, a national restaurant chain, an oil company service station chain, a car rental company, and two airlines. The program is scheduled to be nationally publicized in December of this year.

report on his health from tests run this week at the hospital could cause him to resign, but said, "Right now, my intentions are to stay in politics and run for re-election." Moss' term expires in April, 1975.

Moss said if he sells his home, he will purchase property in the village and remain qualified for the office by being a resident. He said he is considering purchasing two duplexes in the Gaslight Walk Apartments and he also is looking at new homes in the village.

He told the Press-Record that last week he did give serious thought to resigning but said he and his family discussed the issue and he decided to continue in politics, if his health allows. "I did consider quitting, but I never considered moving from the village," he explained.

Village business is being conducted in Moss' absence by Raymond Gaudette Jr. who recently was appointed by Moss as mayor pro tem. That appointment was confirmed by the village board and automatically gives the power of the village board president to Gaudette when Moss is out of town or unable to serve.

If Moss should resign, the village board likely would decide to continue with Gaudette until the April election.

Fire prevention aim of school program

"A successful fire prevention campaign depends upon the active support and involvement of the entire community," Owen Humphrey, curriculum coordinator of Granite City Community Unit School District No. 9, said today.

A fire safety program will get under way in Granite City Schools during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6 to 12. The Board of Education Tuesday night approved this district's participation in a nationwide junior fire marshal program.

Humphrey noted that fires in the United States cause more death and destruction each year than in any other industrialized nation. Last year, nearly 12,000 persons died, and property losses exceeded $3 billion.

"The idea behind junior fire marshal is to stimulate greater public awareness and concern," Humphrey said. "The best place to start, in our opinion, is in the schools."

Founded by The Hartford Insurance Group in 1947, the Junior Fire Marshal program reaches nearly three million kindergarten-through-third grade students. Youngsters are taught how to prevent fires and what to do when fire breaks out.

"It's easy to arouse the enthusiasm of young children," said Humphrey, "but lasting benefits will depend on the cooperation of parents and other adults in the community."

To qualify as a junior fire marshal, a youngster must inspect his home for fire hazards and pledge to observe certain fire safety rules. In a letter which will go home with program participants this week, parents will be asked to assist their children completing the inspection reports and so indicating on signed statements to teachers.

"Lessons learned in the junior fire marshal program may one day save the life of your child or the lives of others in your family," the letter states. "Your interest and enthusiasm will go a long way toward insuring the success of this program."

Students at Emerson, McKinley, Webster, Marshall, Wilson and Parkview elementary schools will hear programs on the junior fire marshal idea Monday. The programs will be given Tuesday at Lake, Johnson, Stallings, Namoki, Niedringhaus, Mitchell, Maryville, Washington, Frohardt and Logan schools.

Granite City firemen will accompany John J. Todd, field director of the program for Hartford, on the visits.

The board approved a plan to dispose of about 30 old team trophies no longer of use to the district by placing them on public display and allowing interested persons to submit sealed bids on them.

Funds raised could be used to buy a plaque which would be placed at the site of the former Central School.

Arrangements for public display of the trophies have not been completed.

Plans for development of a "junk playground" at Emerson School, similar to one now at Johnson Elementary School, were reviewed by the board and approval was granted. The Emerson Parent-Teacher Association will construct the playground using scrap and donated materials as well as new materials the PTA will purchase.

New special education class

An increasing need for special education classes, plus transportation problems of taking some Granite City High School

South students to GCHS North for special education classes, were cited by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday.

The new class is for the teaching of educationally handicapped students, similar to the present class at North. A maximum of 20 students is allowed in such a class during any one period.

The board was told that the new class could be filled immediately with South students, many of whom now are being transported to North and back to South due to the lack of such a class at South.

Arrangements have been made to house the new class in the Coolidge Junior High School Addition. If sufficient room can not be found in GCHS South, it was announced.

The board met in closed session to discuss the possible firing of a North cafeteria worker. Later, in open session, the administration was authorized to take whatever action it felt necessary, including dismissal, if indicated, to correct the situation.

Donald Atkinson was appointed to the extracurricular post of industrial and vocational program department head for North and Joe Kutsky was named to fill the same extracurricular post at South.

The board accepted the resignation from the extracurricular post of assistant basketball coach for South, Richard Harmon. He will continue to teach at the school and may continue his duties in other sports.

Mrs. Marie Billeaud, Glen Carbon, was hired to fill a speech and English teaching vacancy at South.

Tickets are $11 each and may be purchased from members of the Granite City Rotary or Optimist clubs. Rotarian Bristol emphasized that a sellout crowd is expected to attend.

He added, "There are very few tickets left, and if there is anyone wanting to attend he better purchase tickets right away."

Driver faces five charges
Edison O'Dell, 51, of Clifton, Colo., was charged with reckless driving, intoxication, damaging public property, illegal transportation of liquor and having no valid driver's license after his pickup truck allegedly struck a stop sign and a house at 21st Street and Missouri Avenue at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Officers said when they arrived at the scene, they found the truck running and in gear against the home of Dallas Zinn, 2040 Missouri Ave., and the driver sleeping on the grass nearby.

Witnesses said the truck was southbound on Missouri Avenue, swerved suddenly to the left, went over the curb and knocked down the stop sign, crossed 21st Street, went over the curb on the southeast corner and struck the house.

Several boards on the porch were splintered by the impact.

Frost poses grazing problem

By DAVE FISCHER
University of Illinois
Extension Adviser

Frost has prompted questions concerning the safety of grazing forage sorghums and sudangrass after a frost. Generally, a safe guideline with these crops is this: if the crop was safe to graze before the frost, it will be safe to graze after a frost only after the frosted leaves have dried.

Safe grazing is related to the height of the plant. To be considered safe for grazing, sudangrasses should be at least 18 inches tall and sorghum-sudangrass hybrids 24 inches tall.

Animals should not be allowed to graze on these freshly frosted crops because of the rapid release of prussic acid which is toxic at certain levels. Prussic acid is lost from the plant tissues as they dry, making dried forage safe for feeding.

Ensiled forages with a high level of prussic acid are considered safe because of the aeration of the forage in normal feeding operations.

Alfalfa and clovers are not associated with prussic acid content; therefore, harvesting schedules need not be altered because of frost. Fields of alfalfa and clovers should not be harvested after Sept. 20 if you are planning to use them for forage production again next year. Late fall cutting will not allow enough time for proper regrowth to survive the major problem of heaving.

Heaving is caused by the freezing and thawing of the soil in the root zone creating an upward pressure on the roots, thus many of the plants die. Well drained soils have less heaving than poorly drained soils, but the risk is still present.

However, a late-October-to-early-November harvest may be made from fields that you plan to rotate to corn or beans next spring.

Grasses may be grazed after frost and through the fall months if they are not grazed to less than a 3 or 4 inch stubble.

Seven Madison County dairy herds were among the 18 per cent of all DHIA herds in Illinois to produce an average of 550 pounds of butterfat or more per cow for the year ending April, 1971.

These herds are owned by Mrs. Freda Linenbrocker, Worden, with 610 pounds butterfat per cow; Henry Zoeller, Moro, 600 pounds average per cow; Jim Beane, Godfrey, 566 pounds average per cow; Marvin Stille, Alhambra, with 563 pounds average per cow; Clarence Iberg, Highland, 559 pounds average per cow; Vernon Becker, Moro, 559 pound average per cow; and Harold and Carl Baumann, Highland, with 551 pounds of butterfat average per cow.

Only 195 herds out of 1,056 herds on DHIA test in Illinois achieve this high level of production. The state average is 490 pounds of butterfat per cow per year.

Corn borer damage shows now as stalk breakage in some corn fields. Most of the stalk breakage is above the ear and is not serious.

Borer damage to the upper half of corn plants is caused by the second generation of borers. Split the stalk at the site of damage and you usually will find the 3/4-inch-long white worm with a black head. These worms will overwinter inside the stalks. Next May they will pupate and a moth will emerge to lay eggs for the first generation borers.

Corn borer moths are weak when they first emerge and cannot emerge through soil which covers the stalk. So clean plowing under cornstalks helps to control corn borers, but that method is contradictory to mulch-tillage systems which leave crop residues on the surface to reduce soil erosion. Stalk rot can be another cause of corn stalk breakage. The main stalk rot fungi diseases are Diplodia and Gibberella. These do not usually appear until several weeks after pollination, but then infections progress until harvest.

Infected plants can occur in groups or singly, scattered throughout a field. Leaves die first and take on a grayish-green cast. Ears droop and the tassel frequently bends over.

After the plant dies the lower portions of the stalk turn brown and can easily be crushed.

Diplodia stalk rot can be identified by its fruiting bodies that appear as small black dots imbedded in the stalk, but only after the plant dies. Gibberella stalk rot has similar fruiting bodies, but Gibberella bodies can be easily scraped off with a fingernail.

Gibberella often shows a pink to reddish discoloration inside the infected stalk and usually causes a more complete destruction of the stalk than Diplodia.

Stalk rot control includes selecting the most resistant varieties available and using good cultural practices including a balanced fertility program.

Fellowships for teachers

Women whose preparation for college or secondary school teaching has been interrupted may be eligible to apply for Danforth Foundation graduate fellowships for women, according to Roy Peterson, assistant dean of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Graduate School.

Peterson said the fellowships are available to assist women to undertake on a full-time or part-time basis a master's or doctoral program in preparation for teaching in secondary schools or colleges.

Applicants must have received a bachelor's degree, and at some time must have experienced a continuous break of at least three years when they were not engaged in study or teaching, Peterson said. During the application period (September-April), the candidate may not be employed as a full-time teacher or enrolled as a full-time graduate student.

Appointments will be for one year, beginning Sept. 1, 1975, and they may be renewed annually. The stipend will depend on individual need, but the maximum award will be $3,000, plus tuition and academic fees.

Peterson explained that applicants will be required to take the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) aptitude tests in verbal and quantitative abilities, as well as the advanced test if it is offered in their major fields. GRE scores more than five years old are not acceptable.

The Danforth deadline for completed applications is mid-January. Further information is available at Peterson's office in the Graduate School, 2202 General Office Building, SIUE.

Three rob attendant at station

Three men described as 18-19 years of age robbed the Zephyr Service station, Highway 162 and Route 35, taking $35 from John Beard, the attendant, and $168 from the cash register.

Beard told Madison County Sheriff's deputies he saw the three men walking toward the station, but when a customer drove up, they left.

The trio returned when the customer left, went inside the station and one asked for cigarettes. Another man pulled a blue-steel pistol and said, "Give us all your cash."

Beard was locked in the rest room and the three fled, apparently on foot.

The attendant waited about five minutes, broke out of the washroom and called the Sheriff's department.

All-conquering Steelers play at Mater Dei

With the grid season reaching midpoint tomorrow, Granite City North fans have become afflicted with state championship fever. The second-year school continued its domination of area teams last weekend with a 31-0 trouncing of Roxana.

North will meet the Knights of Mater Dei tomorrow when the two schools meet for the first time at 8 p.m. at Brees.

Knight Coach Howard Suter reports that GCHS North was added to the schedule this year after Columbia dropped Mater Dei from its slate because "they said we were too tough for them, even though they beat us."

Coach Tom Wyrostek hopes his team can improve its record to 5-0 Friday. Last year, the "rookie" Steeler team was 4-5 for the grid season.

"Our defense has refused to be scored against so far," commented Wyrostek, "and our offense is just plain quick." North's defensive concrete fence, which has held opposing teams to 383 yards on the ground in 115 carries, includes senior Middle Guard Ed Schmidt, 182 pounds, senior Tackles Dave Huff at 185 and Dale Anderson at 204, and junior Woodward at 205.

Ends are junior Dave Kwiatkowski at 170 and senior Bob Holmhouse at 184. Linebackers are seniors Dave Hamilton at 183 and Mark Davis at 200.

The offensive unit headed by quarterback Gene Logas has racked up 628 yards on the ground and 406 in the air to outscore opponents thus far 81-13.

Wyrostek noted that seven different players have provided the scoring: Mike Donnell, Lenny Wright, Larry Schleicher, Logas, Kwiatkowski, John Scott and Ed Schmidt.

The head football member also takes pride in the kicking foot of Wright, who last year against Collinsville unleashed a record field goal of 45 yards. Last week, he put a 42-yarder through the uprights in North's win over Roxana.

"He missed a 55-footer," recalls Wyrostek, "but a combination of a bad snap and Lenny's stride being off accounted for that."

The Steelers will meet a hungry Mater Dei club which this past weekend defeated Triad 21-12 in a come-from-behind game to take its first victory of the season. The Knights are 1-3 after being downed 36-14 by Mascoutah, 20-13 by Greenville and 7-2 by Centralia.

Mater Dei has five returning starters from last year's squad, which had a 3-4-1 record. They are Seniors Tom Deters, a 150-pound halfback, Steve Mahlandt, a 170 guard, Tom Johnson, a 190 guard, Terry Hitts, a 145-pound quarterback, and Dan Becker, 185, a tackle.

"Our record last year," commented Suter, "didn't show how well we played. Seven of the ten schools on the schedule had at least double, and in some cases triple, our enrollment."

The Knights coach says Johnson and Dan Becker head the team's strongest point, its interior line.

Against Triad, Suter utilized the services of junior Quarterback Dave Schneider. The 150-pound signal caller completed six of seven passes for 67 yards and engineered 10 first downs and 235 yards on the ground.

Schneider also provided a one-yard dash into the end zone. Scoring also were Glen Mess on a five-yard pass interception and Phil Becker from the 20. Mahlandt earned three points on kicks.

"They have shown they can put points on the board," said Wyrostek. "But if our lines don't fall apart, which they shouldn't, we are going to be pretty good again."

Local alumni to play Cougar nine

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team will play its traditional game against SIUE alumni at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 13, at Cougar Field.

The alumni squad will be led by a host of professional players, including John "Champ" Summers, Bruce Thompson and Jim Greenwald, all of the Quad-Cities, and Ron Koford, Tom Twillman, Gary Collins, Pat Peterson and Dennis Werth. The rest of the alumni will be composed of ex-Cougar standouts.

The alumni squad will be coached by Dick Swift, assisted by Dennis Pieper.

The alumni will try to beat an SIUE squad that found up with a 25-12 record in 1974. The Cougars played on a club team which overwhelmed Macomb this past weekend, 50-14, remains to be seen.

Coach Al Vonder Haar is optimistic about Madison's chances, since starting Quarterback Emmett Timmons is once again calling the signals.

"Now we can get our ground and aerial attacks going full gun," says Vonder Haar. "Timmons is our leader."

A mauling in the Trojan timepiece, Timmons was injured two weeks ago in a practice scrimmage and is now reportedly fully recovered after suffering a bruised kidney.

"I feel we possibly could have beaten Columbia this past weekend," remarked the grid member, "if Emmett had been in the game."

"Under the circumstances, we kept to the ground and they stopped us cold most the time" in the 16-6 loss at Columbia.

Although Timmons has given his team 204 yards of its total 282 in the air, Madison has yet to score off the senior's throwing arm.

Senior Kevin Werner has been in the receiving end of Madison's completed passes 13 of the 17 times for 255 yards.

Trojans visit strong Quincy Boys' School

The football Trojans of Madison High will seek a 4-0 record to improve their 0-4 record with a victory at Quincy Boys' High School team.

Whether or not Madison can overcome a team which last year had a 9-1 record and which overwhelmed Macomb this past weekend, 50-14, remains to be seen.

Coach Al Vonder Haar is optimistic about Madison's chances, since starting Quarterback Emmett Timmons is once again calling the signals.

Petri gets 17 saves as goalie

Rudy Equizabal scored in Sunday's 2-0 victory over the University of Missouri at Columbia even though former Granite Cityan Larry Petri had 17 saves in the game.

Scoring in regulation time during the weekend over Harris were Granite Cityans Bobby Galvan and Dennis Jones.

Danny Kehoe tallied four goals in the contest for Harris.

Western sweeps five-mile run

Western Illinois University swept seven of the first eight places to win the Cougar invitational cross-country meet during the weekend over Harris.

The only non-WIU barrier to break the Western Illinois monopoly on the first eight places was SIUE's Mary Smith, a junior, who finished fourth.

Western's Dana Hiserente won in 26:09.

The Cougars' top finishers behind Simpson in ninth and freshman Layne Law in 10th.

Other SIUE results saw sophomore Kevin Walker 16th, sophomore Marc Profrancik 21st, sophomore Larry Jones 26th, freshman Mike Stelchik 33rd and senior Mike Allen 36th.

The University of Missouri-Rolla totaled 107, Greenville College 111, Milliken University 116, University of Missouri-St. Louis 126 and Principia College 181.

Warrior Booster meeting Tuesday

Stan Wojcik, head football coach at Granite City High School, will show game films Tuesday evening at a Boosters meeting at Coolidge Junior High School.

Emerald Dawes, Booster president, said all adults interested in the athletic program at South High are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Refreshments will be served after the business session and films.

Narrow defeat

Madison High harriers tried to keep pace with Marquette at Alton Tuesday, but failure to capture either first or second place left the local Trojans three points short. Marquette won 26-29.

Madison's Willie Mayes finished third, with Joe Gulash fifth, Rudolph Bradley sixth, Mike Terrell seventh, and Nathaniel Pryor, eighth.

Grid Warriors jeeling; visit Tigers in lair

Warrior football Coach Stan Wojcik is attempting to whip together a working formation which could give Granite City South a repeat of last year's victory over the Tigers of Edwardsville when the two schools meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tiger Field.

Last year at home, South squeaked past Edwardsville 17-15 to hand the visitors one of their six losses of the season.

But so far this year Edwardsville has performed like one of the top clubs in the area, with a 3-0 record near mid-season.

South's Warriors, by some standards, should be 1-3 going into tomorrow's contest, but circumstances on Saturday cost them a 12-7 decision at the hands of Cahokia.

"It was our own fault we did not score in the first half," recalls Wojcik, "but after we got straightened out, the third-quarter weather was against us."

South twice failed to score in (first) half play after driving in Cahokia's five on pass plays from Kirk Chapman to Tom Schooley and runs by Frank Baudica and Paul Muskat.

"The first time we got into scoring position," says Wojcik, "our defense was not giving up the ball, but the protection he needed and our receivers in the end zone couldn't hold onto the ball, causing us to give up possession at the Comanche goal line."

On the next play, Cahokia fumbled and South recovered the ball at the visitors' three.

Once again, Cahokia's defense successfully walked off its goal.

After an extended halftime break because of lightning which accompanied a rainstorm, South's offense-defense put it together. But "our passing game was ruined because we were playing into 40-50-mile-per-hour winds," the coach noted.

One pass intended for Schooley at the sidelines, which would have given South good field position, was caught in the wind. It bounced short of its target and fell into the hands of an opposing player.

Later, a fourth-down punt by Bryan Burjan, from his own five, could not master the wind's velocity and Cahokia got possession on South's 19-yard line.

"If the third-quarter situation had been reversed," said the mentor, "I believe we would have won."

Providing the weather does not interfere tomorrow, and the Warrior defense is able to contain Edwardsville Quarterback Jim Burkhardt, South could prevail over the strong Tigers.

Edwardsville sports 18 returning lettermen, including three members of the 1973 offensive backfield and a couple of experienced receivers — in addition to Burkhardt, who is potential threat on the ground and in the air.

The Tiger quarterback, in Saturday's 29-14 win over Alton, ran the ball 21 times for 100 yards and threw three touchdown passes for 62, 12 and one yard.

Edwardsville netted 155 yards rushing to Alton's 120, and had 119 yards in the air to Alton's 75. Burkhardt, a 5-foot-11, 180-pound senior, was five for 12 in passing.

Coming out of the Tiger backfield on triple-option plays will be Venice Allera, a 160-pound senior halfback, Terry Burkhardt, a 160-pound senior split end, and Jay Krumeich, a 175-pound senior fullback.

Defensively, Edwardsville is average in weight, 160-200 pounds. Heading the line are Jim Neumann, at 160, Dave Murphy at 200 and Bill Hermann at 170. Hermann also serves as the Tigers' place kicker.

Providing," says Wojcik, "that our offensive-defense lines do their job, as in the second half of the game, we'll let them know we are there."

2-0 North soccer win

Shooting for a possible berth in this year's finals, the soccer Steelers of Granite City North improved their record to 11-1 with a 2-0 blanking of St. John's Tuesday in Missouri.

After a first-half stalemate, North's Kevin Gavlick scored ten minutes into the final half with an assist by Perry Hartwick.

Ten minutes later, Dave Robertson popped the ball into the net, assisted by Bill Schlafwiler.

Steeler goalie Rick Demaree was credited with two saves of the hosts' nine shots on goal. St. John's defender prevented six of North's 13 shots from entering the net.

The hosts had seven corner kicks to North's three, but fouled nine times to the Steelers' six.

Bob Kehoe, "were the same team which beat us in last year's tournament championship game in St. Louis."

"After beating them this time," he added, "I feel we have a good chance of repeating our 2-3 victory last month over GCHS South."

GC South tennis girls are great

Granite City South's Girls' tennis team captured its first victory of the season Monday with a 2-0 win at Edwardsville. The half-point scoring resulted when a singles match was called because of darkness.

Scoring for South High were: singles — Robin Deterding 6-1, 6-0; Melody Roseman 6-2, 6-4; and Carol Makarewicz, "singles" the half-point, 4-6, 7-4; doubles — Delores and Patricia Dehwal 6-3, 6-0; Kim Kleinschmidt-Petri 6-3, 6-2; and Tamara Dehwal and Linda Vaughn 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

BASKETBALL HOPEFULS. Seventeen candidates for the 1974-75 SIUE varsity pose for a group picture. An abundance of tall players was obvious. At lower right, second from end, is the Cougars' single-game high scorer, Keith McFarland, a graduate of Triad High, whose 40 points last season beat Tony Johnson's and John "Champ" Summers' old mark of 39. Those in the photo, starting at top of the stairs, are: Jim Fonteyne, Silvis, Ill.; Ron Lorenz, York High, Elmhurst; John Strubberg, St. Henry, Belleville, and Union, Mo.; Kevin Kellerman, Mater Dei, Breese; Dave Starkey, Normal; Vince Barnett, MacArthur High, Decatur; Rick LaRose, Robinson; John Neff, Meramec Community College, St. Louis; Willie Carpenter, Brainerd High, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Daniel Frye, Alto; Dennis Olson, Wood River; Wayne Heinrich, Odin, Ill.; Keith McFarland, Triad; Scott Betselberger, Lincoln, Ill.; Don Koppenhaver, Alto; Murphy Bernard, Sumner High, St. Louis; and Jim Siemianowski, Morton High, Cicero.

Basketball Cougars tall and experienced

Although the season is still two months away, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball coach Jim Dudley is already looking forward to the 1974-75 campaign.

That's probably because Dudley has only one player from a 1973-74 edition that racked up a 19-7 record, best in Cougar history.

But that one man, center Leon Wright, will be tough to replace. He averaged 13.7 points and 12.3 rebounds a game.

"It's going to be difficult to improve on last year's record. But we do have an experienced team, and more height than last season," Dudley said.

He has last year's top scorer and leading rebounder back. Forward Doug Young, a senior from East St. Louis, paced the team with 13.1 rebounds a game.

Young's running mate in Dudley's three-forward offense, Keith McFarland, also returns. A senior from Troy, McFarland led the scoring, averaging 19 points a game, including a school-record 40 in one contest.

Those two top players will be sorely needed as the Cougars embark on a tough 26-game schedule that includes two tournaments and a number of powerful opponents.

Highlighting this year's slate are games with Loyola of Chicago (there, Feb. 24), Indiana State University (there, Feb. 8), a pair of contests with Western Illinois University and a single game with the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

SIUE will participate in the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay tournament Jan. 3-4 and then will host Green Bay in a single game Jan. 25. Contests with Western Illinois are slated for Jan. 29 at SIUE and Feb. 20 at Macomb.

Again the Cougars will be one of four teams competing in the George Williams College tournament Dec. 27-28 at Downers Grove, Ill. As in past years, SIUE will play its traditional season-closing contest against a cross-river arch rival, University of Missouri-St. Louis. That game will be played either March 3 or 4 at a neutral site to be announced.

To be successful against that schedule, Dudley is counting on some promising newcomers and his seven returning lettermen.

Along with McFarland and Young, veterans include 6-6, 170-pound senior guard Tom Butler (averaged 3.8 points last season), 6-4, 190-pound senior forward Butch Ferre (6.3), 6-5, 190-pound junior forward John Strubberg (9.8), 6-5, 190-pound junior forward Kevin Kellerman (7.4) and 6-3, 185-pound guard Don Koppenhaver (7.2).

Up from the junior varsity are two leading prospects, 6-6, 220-pound sophomore center Mike Bartels and 6-6, 180-pound sophomore forward Jim Fonteyne. Fonteyne is a native of Silvis, Ill., while Bartels comes from Taylorville. Another member of last year's junior varsity is Ron Lorenz, 6-6, of Elmhurst.

Joining them are a group of talented newcomers led by 6-6, 190-pound center, John Neff, a junior college transfer from Meramec Community College in St. Louis, and 6-10 (in his bare feet), 205-pound Dan Donahue of Arlington Heights, Ill., a powerful basketball school in

Register adults for basketball

The Granite City Park District will conduct a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday at the Namoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin Avenues, to register persons interested in playing women's and men's basketball beginning this month.

Only athletes of high school age or older are eligible to compete in the program.

The Chicago area. Neff and Donahue are given good chances of making the Cougars' starting lineup quickly.

Other freshmen include 6-5, 195-pound Vince Barnett of Decatur, 6-7, 185-pound Dave Starkey of Normal (Bloomington), 6-5, 180-pound Bill Pickler of Wheeling, Ill., Gary Restini, a 6-4 standout from Breese's Mater Dei High, Scott Keenan, a 6-0 teammate of Pickler from Wheeling, Willie Carpenter, 6-3 native of Chattanooga, Tenn., and 6-3 Wayne Hubbard of Montclair, N.J.

Valuable help could also come from three players red-shirted last season: 6-6, 180-pound sophomore Scott Betselberger of Lincoln, Ill., 6-2, 180-pound deadeye shooting ace Dennis Olson of Wood River, and 6-3, 180-pound sophomore Jim Siemianowski of Cicero. Betselberger was captain of the Lincoln High team which was No. 1 all year long in the '72 season.

Another newcomer is assistant Coach Randy Everly, previously head coach at Brown Community College in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"We have some new faces around, but there's also plenty of experience here. Although it's still early, I couldn't be anything but enthusiastic about the upcoming season," Dudley concluded.

With all that talent, it's easy to see why.

80 U. S. drivers to vie here on Saturday

An estimated 80 drivers and cars are expected to gather here at 7 p.m. Saturday to compete in the final racing of 1974's four-race series of super-sprint car competition on the half-mile dirt oval of Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road.

Champions and former champions from all over the U. S. are among those competing, giving the last race of the season here an atmosphere of a "race of champions."

When the green flag drops to start the feature event, Bobby Jones, Danville, Ill., and Bill Utz, Sedalia, Mo., are expected to head the field of 35 drivers piloting racing machines with a total value of more than $100,000.

Jones, an independent competitor with an estimated 30 victories earned thus far on the nation's speedways, has been untouchable at the local raceway.

He captured the final two events of 1973 and has swept to victory in the three races held this year.

In the third race of the series on Aug. 14, Jones not only claimed the top money by winning the main event, but also claimed a new track record of 22.70 seconds in qualifying time trials.

Utz, who has been tailgating Jones throughout the series, held the old record of 22.98 seconds, set July 19.

The Missouri driver, dubbed the "flying blacksmith," captured a championship event at the 1974 Missouri State Fair to wrest the IMCA point lead from Wood River's Larry Kirkpatrick. Utz is expected to clinch the title for a third time later this month in a race at Shreveport, La.

While Jones has been busy taking the checkered flag here, Utz has been knocking on the back door of the winner's circle by finishing second to Jones in every race.

Expected to give Jones and Utz tough competition Saturday are a father and son team from West Memphis, Ark., Sammy Swindell Sr. and Jr.

The younger Swindell, 19, has dominated racing in his state and has defeated Jones twice this year, the most recent in "world series of racing" held at West Memphis Speedway.

Other potential victors are Indiana's Butch Wilkerson, St. Louis' Tom Smith, Jacksonville's Ron Milton, Indiana's Dick Gaines, former IMCA champion Dick Suttelle of Greenwood, Mo., and Springfield, Ill., track champion Jim Moughan.

The second half of the program here may provide area fans with a race of the sport's stock car division season championship race of two weeks ago.

Sportsman drivers and cars will compete in heat races and the top evening with a special double-O feature race, alternating laps between the half-mile track and the quarter-mile oval.

Leading that division will be the newly crowned Tri-City Speedway champion, Rod Bailey of Granite City, and runnerup John Wolfmeier of St. Louis.

Bailey clinched the track title in that division's last outing by winning the feature race after Wolfmeier, who had led the event most of the way, experienced a blown engine in his race car.

South, North to renew their close soccer rivalry Friday

Soccer rivalry between the two Granite City high schools will resume at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at South Field.

South High enters the second game this season between South and North fresh from a 4-0 shutout win Monday over Cahokia, the Warriors' fifth consecutive shutout of the season.

Last year, in the first clash ever between the two, South blanked the North Steelers 1-0 twice.

On Sept. 17 of this season the contest went into four sudden-death overtime periods before North emerged as a 2-1 victor. South now has a record of 8-2-1, while North was 10-1 going into meets this week with St. John of Missouri and St. Paul of Highland.

Warrior Charlie Bennington, who scored his team's only goal, in last month's South-North contest, is only ten goals away from matching the record-setting 28 earned by now graduated Don Goldschmidt, who helped lead South last year third place in the Baker. Bennington tallied his 17th and 18th goals of the young season at Cahokia Monday.

He scored on a first-quarter penalty kick and then again in the second quarter, when he was assisted by freshman Ronnie Goldschmidt.

Veteran striker Dave Sheridan scored for South in the third period on an assist by Bennington.

Sheridan then passed the ball to Teno Valencia, who scored in final period to give the Warriors year senior his 11th goal in competition. Sheridan also has 11.

South outshot the Comanches on goal, 24-2, and blanked the hosts on corner kicks, 9-0. Cahokia had the least fouls of the two, 16-17.

"The win made me a member of the century club," remarked South mentor Gene Baker. "In my six years as a soccer coach, there have been 100 victories in high school competition."

Ticket sale to start for Bills-Cougars contest

Ticket prices for the upcoming soccer battle at Busch Stadium Nov. 8 between Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and St. Louis University were announced this week by Bob Guelker, SIUE athletic director and coach.

The sale will start Monday, Oct. 7.

Sales in Illinois will be at the SIUE ticket office at the University Center; SIUE athletic office in the basement of Lovejoy Library; Mendoza Sporting Goods Store, Granite City; and locations in Collinsville, Alton and Edwardsville.

Ticket prices, Guelker explained, are "geared to provide a savings with purchase of an advance ticket. The price of an advance ticket is $2 for both adults and children. At the gate, tickets will be $3 the day of the game."

Last year, the two teams set a new national soccer attendance record when 122 fans saw the Bills edge the Cougars, 1-0.

A special team ticket designed to attract youth teams is being offered for $20. This ticket allows 18 players (18 years and under), plus seven adults, to be admitted to the collegiate soccer classic.

Currently, the Cougars and Bills are ranked No. 1 and No. 2 in national polls.

Zoning hearing

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct an on-site public hearing at 9:50 a.m. Friday in the Chateau Place Subdivision on Chouteau Slough Road by the levee on the request of Troy and Margaret Glendening for a special use permit to keep no more than four horses on the property in an M-2 general manufacturing district of Chouteau Township.

'Red-lining' of areas opposed

Gov. Dan Walker this week urged Congressional conference committee approval of a bill that would permit the state to take a beginning step to enforce consumer protection measures — such as prohibition of "red-lining" — by federally chartered savings and loan associations.

The state's actions now are limited to state-chartered associations. In a letter to Cong. Frank Annunzio (D. Illinois), Gov. Walker said: "Under the present situation, the state may be severely limited in what it can do to protect consumers since it has little authority over the half of the industry that is federally chartered."

"Although the proposed statute is extremely narrow in focus, it clearly begins to establish a policy — authority of the state to impose consumer-related laws and regulations on federally chartered financial institutions. I strongly urge you to push for adoption of this section in the Conference Committee of which you are a member."

Gov. Walker has established a commission to investigate red-lining and other practices by mortgage lenders in which neighborhoods are denied access to home loans.

Although the proposed statute is extremely narrow in focus, it clearly begins to establish a policy — authority of the state to impose consumer-related laws and regulations on federally chartered financial institutions. I strongly urge you to push for adoption of this section in the Conference Committee of which you are a member."

and Mrs. Stephen Hale, Patton, Mo.; great-grandmother, Mrs. Dora Post, Patton, Mo.; great-grandfather, Oscar Hale, Fredericktown, Mo.; great-grandmother Mrs. Naomi Duffy, St. Louis.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Mental health budget up

In existence just a year now, the Department of Mental Health's division of developmental disabilities has come into its own.

An example of this can be found in the division's operating budget which, for the current fiscal year, is set at $63.7 million. This covers the nine facilities designated as residential treatment centers for the developmentally disabled, those with cerebral palsy, epilepsy or mentally retarded.

The total department budget is $80 million, of which $28 million is Capital Development Board bonded funds.

The largest chunk of the budget — $64.5 million — is allocated for employee salaries. This represents 76 per cent of the funds, and is larger than last year's $63.7 million in salaries.

A department spokesman indicated the increase was due to several factors, including: increased number of employees, increased cost of living, and pay grade adjustments for mental health technicians and support service workers.

At the same time the number of employees is increasing, the number of residents is decreasing.

"The reduction of populations, at state facilities combined with improved direct care ratio and an increase in total number of staff where warranted will, this fiscal year, result in a staff-resident ratio of better than one to one," he said.

Capital improvements amounting to approximately $2,000 per resident will be realized this funding period. In all, $14 million has been budgeted for capital improvements with another $2.7 million set aside to complete construction at Waukegan Mental Retardation Center and William A. Howe Developmental Center.

Grants-in-aid to community agencies were set at $21 million, an increase of 43 per cent over last year's figures. In addition, $1.3 million in federal monies are available this year through the Developmental Disabilities Services Act.

"These funds have made it possible to fund essentially all of the approved grant applications."

In addition to the monies from the DMH, funds for services to the developmentally disabled come from other agencies and departments. For example, the Department of Public Aid shares the cost of funding purchase of care in community-based residential facilities. The Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction provides educational funds; and the Departments of Public Health and Children and Family Services are involved in licensing and inspecting community facilities.

As of June 30, the number of patients residing in state DMH facilities was 6,182. The largest facility is Dixon State School with 2,650 followed by Lincoln State School with 1,917.

Other programs on Wednesday include "NPR Theater" at 7:30 p.m., "Round the Horne," satirical comedy, at 8 p.m., and "Fibber McGee and Molly," 8:30 p.m.

"Voices in the Wind" will be a regular Thursday night feature at 7 p.m. Every fourth Thursday at 7:30 p.m., "Social Security Presents" at 7:30 p.m. and "Dangers of Apathy" at 7:45 p.m.

On Saturday mornings the SIUE radio station will continue the audio magazine format, "The Weekender." At 1 p.m., NPR will broadcast "The Course of Our Times," "Sound Circuit," featuring contemporary music, has been moved to a new time, 1:30 p.m. From 4 to 4:30 p.m. daily NPR's "All Things Considered" can be heard.

Also available to listeners of WSIE-FM on Saturday is "Jazz Revisited," at 3:30 p.m. "This is Ragtime," 5 p.m.; "One Night

"Washington Window," produced by United Press International, will be a regular Sunday program at 7 p.m., followed at 7:30 by a live show, "National Town Meeting."

Rounding out the Sunday schedule, William Buckley's "Firing Line" can be heard at 8:30 p.m. and "Masters of the Opera" at 9:30 p.m.

Explorers hold trainoree

The first Uniwh (Quad-Cities) District Explorer Trainoree was held during the weekend at Camp Sunnen, near Potomac, Mo., under the direction of Dr. Jack Miller, district explorer chairman, and Thomas Hooks, vice-chairman. The event was attended by

Two injured in Rt. 151 crash

Two men were hurt seriously in an accident involving three autos at Route 151 and Rock Road at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. The northbound car of Lonnie Jefferson, 24, St. Louis, and the auto of Orville Bohlenstiel, Marine, southbound and turning left onto Rock Road, collided in the intersection, witnesses said. The auto of Don Vaile, Jerseyville, then approached from the south, was unable to stop in time and the car went off the highway and into a ditch. Vaile was not injured and his car sustained minor damage.

Jefferson and Bohlenstiel were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Jefferson was admitted with a cut to the left side of his forehead and injuries to his back, right shoulder and right knee. A series of x-rays was taken.

Bohlenstiel suffered three jagged cuts to the top of his head, a cut below his left eye, abrasions to his left leg and right knee and possible internal and head injuries. He was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, in fair condition.

members of Post 9, 10-33, 10-4, 123, and 42-54.

A joint campfire, hot dog roast and song fest was held on Friday evening, allowing the members of the various local posts to get acquainted.

Training sessions occupied Saturday morning in an effort to help the members and officers of the posts better understand their roles in strengthening the Explorer program in their individual units.

Although the ground was wet, the Explorers played volleyball and touch football Saturday afternoon.

A general open discussion was held Saturday evening on improving the explorer program in this area, followed by a party in the "camp commissary building."

Exploring is a career oriented program designed for both young men and women between the ages of 15 and 21.

"I feel we had a good event," Dr. Miller related. "Everyone, both adults and explorers, enjoyed themselves and felt they learned something that will help them have a better explorer program at home."

"This was a first camping experience for our young lady explorers in the nursing post. I am not an advocate of women's lib, but the members of Post 9 held their own with their young male counterparts."

Beaten in Burger King holdup

Stephen R. Dietsch of Granite City, an employee of the Burger King in Fairview Heights, was injured when a robber struck his face with a pistol during a robbery at the restaurant during the weekend.

Dietsch told police he was emptying trash outside the rear door of the restaurant then a young man approached, displayed a pistol and forced Dietsch to back through the doorway. The robber followed him inside and forced Dietsch to open the safe.

He took an undetermined amount of cash from the safe and struck Dietsch's face with the pistol. He then tied the victim's hands behind him with a coat hanger and tied him to a storage locker before fleeing through the back door.

Dietsch was treated and released from Belleville Memorial Hospital.

He described the robber as in his 20s, about 5 feet, 9 inches to 6 feet tall, weighing about 180 pounds, having black shoulder-length hair and wearing blue coveralls. He carried a blue-steel revolver, Dietsch recalled.

Retires from Red Cross post

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck retired this week as executive director of the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter after serving at the local chapter office for 23 years.

She is the wife of Ted Overbeck, who retired last year as postmaster of Granite City.

As chapter executive director, Mrs. Overbeck was responsible for every phase of the area Red Cross program, including such services as Water Safety, First Aid, Blood Donors, Disaster, Red Cross Youth and Service to Military Families.

"Volunteers, however, are the backbone of the Red Cross," Mrs. Overbeck stressed. "Without the volunteer chairman who head each program and their corps of hard workers, the Red Cross could not exist in its present form, she added."

Noting that her special interest always has involved the Service to Military Families program, the Red Cross official pointed out that Overbeck also pointed out that the contact is maintained with a serviceman and his family in times of trouble.

"The separation and the heartache of not being with your loved ones, especially if a tragedy occurs, sometimes makes it almost unbearable. That is when we try our best to help," she said.

In her position as Red Cross director, Mrs. Overbeck has been on call at all times of the day and night in order to "follow through" with verification for emergency leave in the event of tragedy occurring in a family, she explained. When she was not available personally, an assistant is always "on call," she said.

"We get so involved in cases and since the Red Cross is the only organization that has representatives everywhere in the United States this is the organization to which the military turns for assistance with verifications from doctors and funeral homes," she noted.

"We have a telecommunication system and can contact our Red Cross people all over the world in a matter of hours, most of the time," Mrs. Overbeck said.

She said the Red Cross also has an active program for veterans, assisting them with benefits, pensions and other details relating to civilian life.

"Helping anyone gets into your blood, any volunteer working with a charitable organization for people knows what I mean," she commented.

Mrs. Overbeck has been

MRS. RUBY OVERBECK, who retires this week as executive director of the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter. She has been active in many civic organizations throughout the years in addition to her 23-year service in the Red Cross.

active in many civic organizations throughout the years and has served on numerous committees concerned with community affairs and betterment.

Both she and her husband have been members of Niederrhein United Methodist Church since childhood. They reside at 27 Riviera Drive.

The Overbecks are the parents of two married daughters, Mrs. William (Karen) Nelson who lives in Granite City with her husband and two daughters, and Mrs. Dale (Jo Ann) Spurgeon who resides in Peoria with her husband and two sons.

Mrs. Overbeck said the work load at the Red Cross office, 1411 Twenty-first St., has been "unbelievable" during August and September. "We replace the telephone and immediately it rings again with a new case and all its related problems," she said.

Her effective retirement date was Monday, but due to the demands of the job she is remaining at the office as a volunteer to help clear away an accumulation of tasks.

"Mrs. Overbeck also pointed out that the time for the United Way drive is imminent."

"Since we obtain all of our funds from the United Way, I hope everyone will be grateful for their own health and happiness and think of those less fortunate when they make their United Way pledge," Mrs. Overbeck said.

SERVICES FRIDAY AT APOSTOLIC CHURCH

A gospel singing session and worship services will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ, 224 State St., it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Grace K. Sparks. The featured speaker will be the Rev. Harold Williams of Belleville.

Lions World Service day to be observed Tuesday

Members of the Madison Lions Club will solicit blood donor pledges Tuesday for the Shriner's Burn Institute in Cincinnati as their project for "World Lions Service Day."

On Tuesday, more than one million Lion Club members throughout the world will perform special humanitarian services on that particular day.

The Madison Lions have selected to solicit pledges of blood, to be given in January for the children at the Burn Institute.

Lions Ted Nizinski and Leonard Sobol, both Madison County Deputy Sheriffs and members of the Madison Club are co-chairmen of the project. Anyone wishing to donate blood for the Shriner's Burn Institute may call Lions Jim Riskovsky at 876-8085 or Dave Clark at 452-3377.

Lion "Candy Days" will be held Friday and Saturday.

Members of both the Pontoon Beach and Madison Lions clubs will be at various locations in the Quad-Cities and give a roll of candy in exchange for a donation. The money raised by "Candy Days" is used to help blind and visually handicapped people.

Two enroll in Gradwohl school

Two Quad-Cityans have enrolled in the Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technique, St. Louis, for a year's course in medical laboratory technology.

They are Miss Donna Jeanette Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Holt of Madison, and Miss Margaret A. Langley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Langley of Granite City.

After graduation they will serve a one-year salaried internship in a hospital laboratory and will be a qualified laboratory technician.

The school, a private not-for-profit co-educational institution, is approved by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association.

Gradwohl School has trained more than 6,000 persons for positions in hospitals, clinics, private laboratories and physicians' offices in its 34 years of operation.

Cancer of breast kills thousands every year

CHICAGO — The subject was breast cancer, which is expected to kill 33,000 American women this year.

The speakers were physicians and researchers on the staff of Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke Medical Center here. Recently the Illinois Cancer Society gathered together a group of reporters from throughout Illinois to tour the center's cancer research and treatment facilities and to meet the team of physicians and scientists working in research and treatment.

Discussions were narrowed down to breast cancer simply to provide a better focus. Cancer researchers in the immense westside medical institution follow clues wherever they lead in the complicated subject of malignant tumors.

Dr. Charles P. Perlia, director of medical oncology and associate professor of medicine at Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's, described the problem of researchers by asking the questions they must answer before physicians can begin to control cancer. Perlia's specialty of oncology has to do with the diagnosis and treatment of tumors.

"We don't know anything about what makes them grow," Perlia said. The tempo of growth of tumors ranges from very slow to startlingly swift.

"Some are known to have grown practically overnight," Perlia commented.

Perlia took chalk and drew outlines of three different shapes. Cancer cells of all three shapes are found in breasts harboring malignant tumors. Why are they different shaped? he asked.

Researchers now know there are such things as hormone receptors, which are bits of matter uniquely sensitive to one of the hormones produced by the body. Receptors sensitive to the female hormone of estrogen are found only in malignant breast tissue. Again, why?

In order to get a broad range of information, fact piled upon fact about cancer of the breast, Perlia and his colleagues have launched an ambitious program to examine tissue from breasts removed because of malignancies.

Ninety per cent of the breasts removed in such operations aren't examined beyond the analysis needed to determine that there is a malignancy, according to Perlia. In the medical center a program of detailed analysis is under way and Perlia is seeking to enlist staffs of other hospitals to carry out detailed examinations of breast tissue removed by surgeons.

Perlia wants healthy as well as malignant tissue to be examined. At the same time he wants to begin to define the reactions of a woman's body when it is invaded by breast cancer cells.

"By the time we pick up a lesion, it's always at least twelve o'clock for the patient," Perlia commented. "I would like to know what happens at 11 o'clock."

Another avenue of inquiry being pursued at Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's is basic research in virus as the possible cause of cancer in human beings and in transmission of virus from individual to individual. Virus as a cause of cancer in some laboratory animals has been well established.

A colony of marmoset monkeys, tiny South American primates, is maintained at a medical center for this research. About 300 of the monkeys are in the laboratory. They have a tendency to develop breast cancer which makes them especially valuable for the research project.

Scientists are working to prove virus as a cause of cancer in the monkeys and to discover whether the virus is transmitted from animal to animal. Because of their close physical relationship to hu-

Venice council opposes legalizing marijuana

The Venice City Council, in action taken at its meeting Tuesday evening, approved a resolution urging the Illinois State Legislature not to legalize marijuana. Another resolution to participate in the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) to fight drug pushers also was approved.

It was reported that the Illinois Bar Association is trying to legalize marijuana possession and use in Illinois. It was felt by the council that dealers in marijuana also deal in other drugs and that many people are led to harder drugs by first starting with marijuana and then convinced by pushers to use hard drugs on which the pusher makes more money.

A resolution also passed by the Venice Council authorizes the city to cross the bridge during the month, for a daily average of 7,303 vehicular crossings.

The McKinley Bridge report for September listed 219,102 vehicles crossing the bridge during the month, for a daily average of 7,303 vehicular crossings.

The arrest report for August noted that $171 in fines from the clerk of the Circuit Court were (ILEC), which already has funded six other MEG units in the state.

The main thrust of the program is to halt the smaller output of drugs by the more routine sellers on the streets. Large pushers will remain the target of other drug enforcement agencies.

Under the program, each city joining MEG will assign an officer to work exclusively with the new agency.

The council approved building permits for Rev. C. C. Waters, 1108 Calhoun St., room addition, $2,900; Lena Goodrich and Dorothy Bess, 400 Broadway, porch repair, $900; and Howard Silas, 1221 Market St., room addition $1,200.

The council also approved building permits for Rev. C. C. Waters, 1108 Calhoun St., room addition, $2,900; Lena Goodrich and Dorothy Bess, 400 Broadway, porch repair, $900; and Howard Silas, 1221 Market St., room addition $1,200.

received. There were 34 adult and five juvenile arrests made.

Mayor Ebersoldt called attention to Lions Club World Service day to be observed Tuesday and said that the Lions would be holding their "Candy Days" on Friday and Saturday to raise funds for visually handicapped people.

The council approved hiring a bus to take Senior Citizens to the Plantation Theatre Wednesday. Noted by the law firm of Callis and Filcoff that the City of Venice is being sued in behalf of an 11-year-old girl who was allegedly injured when struck by an auto at 11:50 a.m. on Feb. 24, 1972, while crossing Broadway at the school crossing, was referred to Harry Hartman, city attorney.

The council also approved building permits for Rev. C. C. Waters, 1108 Calhoun St., room addition, $2,900; Lena Goodrich and Dorothy Bess, 400 Broadway, porch repair, $900; and Howard Silas, 1221 Market St., room addition $1,200.

Law outlines tax collection charge

By MAURICE W. SCOTT
Executive Vice President
Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

House Bill 194, passed by the General Assembly in 1974 and signed by Governor Dan Walker on Aug. 26, allows counties to charge taxing districts a proportionate share of the costs to a county of extending and collecting property taxes.

Under provisions of the new statute, each county collector when authorized by an ordinance passed by the County Board, shall determine the total actual costs to the county of extending and collecting property taxes for the taxing districts within the county, and charge each taxing district its proportionate share of those costs.

The proportionate share of a taxing district shall be determined by applying the same percentage to the actual total cost of extension (as determined by cost analysis by an independent auditing firm) as its extension (dollar amount) bears to the total extension (dollar amount).

The resultant amount shall be billed to each taxing district after tax collections have been distributed to all taxing districts within the county.

According to provisions of the Illinois Constitution of 1870 and applicable statutes, the county clerk charged local taxing districts seven cents for each property tax extension on each description of real estate and each person's personal tax, and the collector would reserve such amount from the taxes due and payable to such local taxing districts.

The county collector, in first- and second-class counties, received a fee of one per cent for collecting property taxes and one per cent for paying them out of local governments.

In Cook County (3rd class county), the fee was one-half of one per cent for collecting the taxes and one-half of one per cent for paying them out.

With the revenues from such fees, the county collector and county clerk paid their salaries, plus the salaries of their clerks and deputies, stationery, fuel and other office expenses, and all excess of such fees was paid into the county treasury. This excess amounted to a lot of revenue for the general fund of all counties.

Why House Bill 194? The new Illinois Constitution of 1970 contains a provision in the Local Government Article, Article VII, Section 9(a), that says, "Fees shall not be based upon funds disbursed or collected, nor upon the levy or extension of taxes."

So the question becomes, "Does H. B. 194 provide for a fee for the extension and collection of property taxes and Article VII, or does it provide for a legitimate charge by the county to local governments of the costs of doing tax work for local governments, and outside the provision of said 9(a) of Article VII?"

Anyway, we now have a statute on the question that will be resolved in the courts.

In the old days, the extension and collection costs in an average county amounted to about three per cent of the aggregate property tax extensions for local governmental units therein.

Recommend granting of 4 special use permits

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will recommend to the Madison County Board Oct. 16 that four requests for special use permits in Quad-City townships be granted.

The board recommends a special use permit be granted to Mary Cromer, owner, and Lucas Wischniuk, purchaser and lessee, to convert a duplex into offices for two doctors in the Cedar View Subdivision, just east of the Alton and Southern Railroad tracks and south of Pontoon Road on the road to the Archer Daniels Midland Co. grain elevator and soybean processing plant, an R-3 single family residential district of Nameoki Township.

The other requests recommended for approval are for special use permits for the placement of mobile homes. Nameoki Township requests are by Ruby Barker, owner, and Raymond Barker, occupant, to place a 12 by 80 foot unit near State Air Route 25 and Route 111, behind Barker's Trucking and Excavating Co., an M-2 general manufacturing district, and by Ralph Laiken and Erma Sutton, owners, and John Burger, occupant and purchaser, to place a 12 by 32 foot unit at 3128 Amherst in State Park Place, an R-4 single family residential district.

Also recommended for approval is the request of Robert Chavis to place a 10 by 52 foot unit on Carver Street in the Viasud Addition, an R-4 single family residential district of Venice Township.

The Madison County Board will consider the recommendations during its regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, in the county board room in the basement of the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

Free vision tests at Coolidge set Saturday

Kiwanian Darrell Weible announced at the club's Monday evening meeting at Charlie's Restaurant that the joint SOS (Save Our Sight) program, sponsored jointly with the Granite City Jaycees Saturday may attract well over 900 persons.

The vision screening program will be offered to the public free of charge by the two service clubs from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Coolidge Junior High School, 3221 Nameoki Road. The tests are being offered to persons of all ages from 3 and up.

According to Weible, the program will check for near and far acuity, muscle balance or eye teaming, hyperopia, stereopsis, near accommodation, color perception, field of vision and glaucoma eye pressure.

The clubs have printed 10,000 fliers to be distributed through the schools explaining the program and Boy Scouts will be at various shopping center distributing the fliers.

Kiwanian John Krekovich, peanut sale chairman for the evening club, reported that they collected over $1,900 and gave away 3,400 bags of peanuts. Krekovich thanked the membership and the public for supporting this project.

The club approved the purchase of new baseball uniforms for the boys' team that the Kiwanis sponsors in the Granite City Park District program.

Review potential of Madison Ave.

The potential of Madison Avenue as a continuous commercial area stretching through the area was discussed by Avery Schermer, an owner of Schermer Brothers Grocery in Madison during the regular meeting of the Madison Rotary Club at noon Wednesday at the Madison Recreation Center.

Schermer said Madison Avenue is the main link joining Granite City, Madison and Venice and holds great promise for shopping centers and other commercial developments, particularly in Madison.

Hearing here Oct. 15 on 'air quality area'

The Illinois Pollution Control Board has scheduled two public hearings on plans for maintaining clean air standards through 1985.

The hearings will be at Peoria at 10 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the public library, and at SIUE at 10 a.m. Oct. 15 at the University Center.

The Pollution Control Board will consider a request by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to designate the Chicago, Decatur, Peoria and East St. Louis metropolitan areas as formal Air Quality Maintenance Areas. The latter would include the Quad-Cities.

This designation would be the first step in a series of activities designed to maintain federal air-related clean air standards through 1985, according to Richard H. Briceand, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Later action could include transportation control plans as a method of controlling air pollution in the designated areas.

Kinder dinner chairman

Norman Kinder, Granite City attorney, has been appointed chairman of the Uniwah (Quad-Cities) District annual dinner meeting of Scout leaders, it was announced today by Dr. Thomas Layloff, district chairman.

The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the District Award of Merit (formerly known as the Scout Oscar) which is presented to volunteer adult leaders who have rendered a minimum of five consecutive years service to Scouting.

G. Rollin Henn, veteran Scout leader and holder of the Award of Merit and the Silver Beaver, will head the selections committee, according to Dr. Layloff.

Dr. Rackham to retire

Dr. Eric N. Rackham, president of McKendree College since 1968, has announced that he will retire at the end of the current fiscal year.

A native of Nova Scotia, Canada, Dr. Rackham has had a distinguished 45-year career in education, serving 15 years at the University of Colorado and 16 years at Kent State University before coming to McKendree.

In announcing his retirement, Dr. Rackham said that he felt that all of the four goals he set out to accomplish when he became president of McKendree had been met.

Upon assuming his office seven years ago, Dr. Rackham set forth the goals of stabilizing the student enrollment above 500, enlarging the College's endowment holdings to at least $1 million, wiping out the College's operating indebtedness and completing the requirements for accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges.

McKendree was accredited in 1970. The College has virtually wiped out all of its past debts. McKendree's endowment funds are now over $2 million. Enrollment for fall 1974 was over 650 students, the third rise in three years.

Youth faces charge

John Barges, 17, of 4074 Breckenridge Lane, Pontoon Beach, was charged with possession of cannabis after Pontoon Beach police arrested him on Highway 111 near the viaduct during the weekend.

Two youths told police there were boys under the viaduct smoking marijuana. Officers investigated and said they saw a youth walking along the highway near the viaduct. A plastic bag of marijuana was seen protruding from a pocket, they alleged.

Teamwork produces 6-0 North victory

Granite City North is now 12-1 thus far after blanking St. Paul of Highland 6-0 yesterday in a soccer contest held at Steeler Park.

North scored four goals in the first 30-minute half and two more in the final half after taking 14 shots on goal to the visitors' one.

The Steelers had five corner kicks to St. Paul's two. North fouled five times to the opposing team's two.

Scoring for the local team were: Harvey Breckner, assisted by Jim Louis; Dan Sedek, assisted by Breckner; Breckner, assisted by Bill Schlattweiler; Dave Robinson, assisted by Kevin Gavlick; Joe Uram, assisted by Greg Ely; and Sedek, assisted by Dave Hatascher.

"We displayed good teamwork," remarked North mentor Bob Kehoe. "All were well-earned goals."

Investigation committee, also is being sought for the Madison County dinner.

Yesterday's announcement was that SUE will interpret Section One of the Illinois Dramshop Act as making clear that permission can be given for use of alcoholic beverages by private persons or groups leasing university facilities.

The ruling was issued by John Paul Davis, executive assistant to President John Rendleman. Davis also is the local university's general counsel.

Under his interpretation, serving of alcoholic cocktails as well as champagne — will encounter no problems at the Kennedy dinner. SUE will interpret the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

Davis said the university also interprets Section Eleven of the Dramshop Act as prohibiting consumption of alcoholic beverages in university facilities "only if the beverage is delivered commercially for sale or resale."

He added, "These interpretations are consistent with other interpretations we have seen which have been given by other institutions by the Illinois Liquor Control Commission."

The legal counsel explained that when SUE facilities are leased to a group, the individuals leasing the space may legally consume liquor on the premises provided that the liquor is furnished by the group itself without commercial delivery, and provided that it is not sold.

Drinks at the Democratic dinner traditionally have been free of charge to those paying the $25 admission fee. In such cases, the group involved must provide the university with evidence of adequate Illinois Dramshop Act insurance coverage," Davis concluded.

Liquor has been barred at Mississippi River Festival concerts and other public programs held at SUE.

The faculty club has a liquor license for beer and wine served in separate building west of the academic core area.

At the last SUE Board of Trustees meeting, the board voted to allow 10-year-olds at Tower Lake parties to possess and consume beer and wine in the privacy of their quarters.

Rotary and other district meetings held at SUE have utilized cocktail hours at the nearby Sunset Hill Club in preceding dinners at SUE.

Under yesterday's ruling, such groups apparently could make plans similar to those at the Democratic party, if they so desire.

Sam Wolf, secretary of the Madison County Democratic party, commented Wednesday, "We certainly have no intention of doing anything in violation of the law or of the university regulations."

"It has been determined that we can serve liquor since the organization will furnish it without any charge as part of the ticket price."

He said Monday's statement to the contrary by a university spokesman in a Press-Record article had "hit ticket sales pretty hard."

With yesterday's verification that the dinner will include the usual social hour with the announcement of the guest speakers, it is hoped that a large turnout can be attracted, Wolf added.

Church. A buffet dinner was held.

Agencies in the United Way are Alcoholism Rehabilitation, American Red Cross, Arthritis Foundation, Boy Scouts, Catholic Charities, Coordinated Youth Services, Family Service Association, Fraternal Society of United Members, Girl Scouts.

Also, the Tip-City Association for Retarded, Health Services Fund, Illinois Children's Home and Aid, Madison Recreation Program, Protestant Welfare Association, Salvation Army, Urban League, Visiting Nurse Association, and Tri-City Area Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA).

Pulaski cited the impact of inflation on the agencies and their employees.

"The sum of $425,000 is what we must have to keep from eliminating some of the services they perform," he commented.

"We reached our goal last year, and with the cooperation of the entire community we can do it again. We're asking for everyone's help."

MADISON MAN ROBBED

T. Spearman of Madison reported to East St. Louis Police Monday night that three men robbed him of his 1968 auto, his wallet containing $35 and his keys as he left Tri-City Lounge in East St. Louis.

Utility prospects costly

About $5 Quad-City, Edwardsville, Collinsville and Alton businessmen and civic leaders met last night at the Collinsville Holiday Inn to hear Wendell J. Kelley, president of Illinois Power Co., discuss future power prospects for the county and for Illinois Power Co.

Kelley said the power company and the people it serves depend upon each other. "We're stuck with each other. We've got to serve you whether we like you or not and you've got to take service from us whether you like us or not," he said.

He said, for that reason, the outlook for Illinois Power Co. is the outlook for the residents and businesses of the area served.

Kelley said Illinois Power Co. has about $1 billion worth of equipment in its service area now and in the next five years it will require about another $1 billion worth of equipment installed.

way might cost several hundred thousand dollars. Surface without curbs could be provided without delay at substantially less.

The gathering was told, Mayor Paul Schuler and Aldermen Emerald Dawes, Gerald N. Paul, Green, Gerald Parnley and Everett Morlen were among those taking part in the breakfast meeting.

Present financial obligations against the city's motor fuel tax account were cited, along with suggestions that the city consider various projects be compared in establishing priorities.

Mayor Schuler agreed to arrange a meeting this month between developers, officials and other interested parties to discuss the project on a specific plan of action.

The praying group's traffic discussion is to be resumed next month.

Petitions seek vote on county jail bond plan

An effort to place Madison County's $4 million bond proposal for construction of a new county jail on the November election ballot is under way in a petition drive spearheaded by the Madison County Jail Board.

A total of 453 petitions are in circulation or ready to be, circulated in a drive to obtain more than 11,000 names necessary to get the proposition on the ballot. The petitions must be filed with the county clerk's office by Oct. 11.

Mrs. Fensterman, who said petitions are being circulated in Granite City, Alton, Meadowbrook, Bethalto, Cottage Hills, East Alton, Moro, and Morris, said she has had hundreds of calls from volunteers wishing to aid in the drive for signatures.

The Madison County Jail Board has authorized a $4 million bond issue which automatically will become effective if petitions for referendum are not filed by the Oct. 11 deadline.

If the petition drive is successful, she said, area residents will "have their rightful say in how their money is spent."

Deltha Cigelski, 40, of 2737 Warren Ave., was injured in a freak accident today when she was struck by a car after and tried to stop her moving car at Nameoki Road and St. Clair Avenue at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

When the auto engine then started and the transmission went into gear, she said, causing the auto to move toward the street. She reached inside the moving car and steered it into the median to stop, but injured her right side in the process, officers were told.

She went to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for injuries to her right shoulder, arm and elbow and right leg. X-rays were taken and she was released.

'Picturesque confusion' at dedication of Lincoln tomb

Dedication of the tomb of Abraham Lincoln at Springfield's Oak Ridge Cemetery on Oct. 18 was the most historic event in Illinois during that month in 1874.

The ceremony was attended by President Ulysses S. Grant, Vice-President Henry Wilson, Gen. William T. Sherman, commander of the Army, and a host of the nation's other military and political leaders.

And, as the Chicago Evening Journal reported, Springfield's "streets were crowded with multitudes of strangers from all parts of the country. Nearly the entire population of the adjoining counties arrived on special trains... (and) while vehicles of all kinds tried to push their way through the throng, the whole formed a scene of picturesque confusion."

Some 110 newspapers for the period in the Illinois State Historical Library show that the press did not agree exactly on what the occasion should be called. Some papers referred to it as "the unveiling of the statue of Lincoln" while others called it "the inauguration of the monument to the memory of Lincoln." But none used the term "Lincoln Tomb" as the monument is known today.

Whatever they called the occasion, all agreed that the capital city had outdone itself with its decorations. The Chicago Tribune said that "the streets of Springfield, not particularly noticeable for neatness in ordinary times, were well swept, and the dust was laid by a fortunate sprinkle of rain which occurred during the preceding night... The national colors waved on every house, fluttered from every window... in short, occupied every possible vantage place within the city limits."

Six "triumphal arches" had been erected over the street at the four corners of the Capitol square and at the Leland Hotel and the Opera House. These,

Springfield's Illinois State Register reported, were "very graceful and effective, trimmed with evergreens and green leaves of oak... and draped with tyning wreaths." At night the arches were lighted with Chinese lanterns which "attracted great attention," according to the Illinois State Journal.

The parade to Oak Ridge Cemetery was headed by Illinois Gov. John L. Beveridge "mounted on a magnificent charger and attended by a brilliant staff," according to the Tribune report. The procession formed on the downtown streets and "filed by the old house of Abraham Lincoln" before going to the cemetery. The crowd at the ceremony was estimated by the Tribune at 25,000, while other papers put the figure as high as 30,000.

The oration of the day was

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Oct. 3, 1974 Page 18

delivered by Illinois Senator and former Governor, Richard J. Ogelsby. The honor had been declined earlier by President Grant but he did deliver a brief address. Also on the program were Jesse K. Dubois, acting president of the National Lincoln Monument Association, which had raised funds for the monument, and Larkin G. Mead Jr., the sculptor and designer of the monument.

The Oak Ridge ceremony was preceded the day before by the annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee and was followed by a reception at the Executive Mansion and a banquet at the Leland Hotel.

The day was marred only by the fact that the weather was "cold and cheerless" and the flood of visitors seemed to have included more than the usual number of pickpockets. The State Journal reported that their victims included even Gen. Sherman and a city policeman.

Cong. Price to speak at Chouteau dedication

U. S. Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) will be the featured speaker during public dedication ceremonies Saturday for the new Chouteau Township highway department garage.

Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks of Chouteau Township said Price's attendance is particularly appreciated since the garage was constructed entirely with federal revenue sharing funds, which made construction possible without additional tax burdens to local residents.

The ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday at the garage. Sparks said those wishing to find the garage should drive on Interstate 270 to the Route 203 north exit. After leaving the interstate, motorists should turn left onto the access road to the Midwest Motel and should turn right at the motel to the site.

CONG. MELVIN PRICE
Dedication speaker

The 6.75-acre site also was purchased with revenue sharing funds and the township hopes to construct a town hall building there in the future, if funding is available.

Also invited are Gov. Dan Walker, all U.S. and state senators and representatives of this district and many local officials. Gov. Walker has not confirmed if he plans to attend.

Charge 2 with theft

John Overturn, 20, St. Louis, and Lloyd Nagle, 20, of 3223 Maryville Road, Apt. 1, were arrested Tuesday in Ferguson, Mo., and were brought to Granite City where two charges of theft were filed against each of them.

Police allege they stole a bicycle from the home of Margaret Williams, 2808 Birch St., Monday, and were attempting to sell the bicycle in Missouri when arrested.

Upon questioning, police obtained information which led to the recovery of a power lawn mower stolen from Herb Williams, 220 Briarcliff Drive, Monday.

A third man arrested with Overturn and Nagle was being held for Madison County authorities in connection with the alleged theft of a stereo, it was disclosed. He has not been charged.

Interest cost increased

The Illinois legislature, in its session in 1974, changed the Illinois Interest Act to increase the amount of interest which a lender can charge the borrower. The Interest Act applies to all persons making loans of money, whether they are a private individual or someone regularly engaged in making loans.

The amendments to the Act, in simplest form, provide that for a loan secured by residential real estate, a lender cannot charge a maximum of 9 1/2 percent interest on the loan.

The amendment does not require that any lender charge 9 1/2 percent on a home loan, it merely sets that rate as the maximum rate which can be charged.

On loans other than those secured by a mortgage on residential real estate, a lender may charge no more than 8 percent interest on a personal loan to an individual.

The 8 percent and 9 1/2 percent interest rates, and limitations do not apply to loans for business purposes or to loans to corporations or businesses.

According to the Illinois State Bar Association, other statutes in Illinois provide for differing charges or rates of interest which may be charged, depending on the transaction, higher than the 8 percent and 9 1/2 percent general rates. The time payment charge on a retail installment sales contract is not treated as interest for purposes of the Interest Act limitations.

Small loan companies also have, by statute, the right to charge higher rates of interest for their loans. Small loan companies include finance companies, and to some degree the consumer loan departments of commercial banks.

Revolving charge accounts, entered into by written contract, also have different time payment rates which are governed by statute, and can exceed the 8 percent interest provided for generally by the Interest Act.

The 9 1/2 percent interest rate now permitted on loans secured by residential real estate is the highest rate of interest permitted in Illinois for such purposes in recent times. The passage of this amendment to the Interest Act was apparently intended to encourage lenders to make loans for home purchases where they would not do so at the old 8 percent interest rate on home loans.

However, if a lender chooses to make a loan in excess of 8 percent, then there are certain stipulations which he must observe. While oftentimes the lender is limited to 3 points if the loan has an interest rate in excess of 8 percent per annum, a "point" means 1 percent of the principal amount of the loan. Thus 3 points means that they may not charge more than 3 percent of the principal amount as a loan acquisition fee.

The total of the points and the interest rate charged over the life of the loan still may not exceed 9 1/2 percent in total.

A lender may not charge any penalty or any other sort of charge for prepayment of a loan which is made at an interest rate in excess of 8 percent. Finally, at present, the amendment to the Interest Act sets July 1, 1975 as the last date upon which loans secured by residential real estate can be made in excess of 8 percent, says the Illinois State Bar Association.

Ice rink to open Sunday

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

This week's early frost warnings, although proving slightly premature, seemed appropriate to the Granite City Park District maintenance workers who are completing preparations for the opening of the Wilson Park ice rink at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Sunday will mark the opening of the Granite City rink's 8th season with general skating sessions planned from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. An adult session is scheduled from 8:30 p.m. until 11 p.m.

The facility will remain closed on Mondays. General skating hours will be from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Various special sessions are arranged, including skating instruction schools between 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Saturday and open skating from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday and Friday.

The ice veneer on the rink surface is "building up nicely with no problems," according to Harold Brown, park district superintendent.

Yesterday, hockey lines were painted on the partially built up surface and additional layers of water are being sprayed today to continue the icing process.

During the past seven years, a total of 303,438 skaters has paid to use the rink facility, Brown said.

For the 1974-75 skating season, the park district also has contracts worth $21,358 from hockey leagues planning to utilize the local rink, the park administrative officer reported.

Hockey organizations signing contracts for winter play include the Granite City Amateur Hockey Association; Madison-St. Clair Hockey League; Alton Hockey Club; McCluer North of Florissant, Mo.; Tri-City Hockey Club; Huff and Puff Hockey Club; Senior Men's Hockey League and the Skate, Pass and Shoot Program.

For the first time since the rink opened on Oct. 27, 1967, the admission fees will be raised this season, Brown said.

Residents with a park district identification card may skate at a cost of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children through high school age. The previous cost was 75 cents and 25 cents, respectively.

Non-residents and persons without ID cards are required to pay $1.50 per session, adults, and $1 for children through high school age.

Skate rental and sharpening for hockey skates will be 50 cents each and figure skate sharpening and hollow grinding will be 75 cents.

Park district residents with ID cards may purchase book tickets for additional savings. Brown pointed out, Ten-ticket booklets for adults cost $9 each and $4.50 for children's books.

An added benefit to holders of ticket booklets enables the skater to enter the rink immediately without waiting in line to purchase single admission tickets at each session, the park officer explained.

Residents with ID cards also may purchase season passes for the entire family at a cost of $35, he said.

The plasticized ID cards, costing 75 cents each, may be obtained from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, Oct. 12, and Saturday, Oct. 26, at the ice rink.

Persons wishing to secure a card are asked to present proof of residency, such as a receipted utility bill, at the time of purchase, Brown said.

A total of 80,000 ID cards has been issued in the past seven years, he noted.

Another milestone will be passed during the park district's 1975-76 fiscal year with a final payment of $61,125 on the bond indebtedness for the rink's construction.

A $475,000 bond issue to finance the rink project was approved by park district voters in a referendum held Dec. 18, 1965, following a concerted campaign by civic groups.

The bond issue was the first undertaken by the Granite City Park District in 26 years, since the 1939 bond issue was approved for construction of the Wilson Park swimming pool.

The rink can accommodate more than 525 skaters at one time and the pavilion is utilized during the spring and summer months for many community programs and recreational pursuits.

"icing up" the rink surface requires hours of painstaking labor, including the freeing of many finely sprayed layers of water, each frozen as they are applied by two, 80-ton refrigeration units connected to miles of pipes imbedded in the rink floor.

The ice must be 1 to 1 1/4 inches deep to provide a good skating surface, Brown explained.

The surface is kept smooth throughout the season by a card are asked to present proof of residency, such as a receipted utility bill, at the time of purchase, Brown said.

A traditional "Skate Swap Shop" when used and outgrown skates and hockey equipment are sold and exchanged was held last night in the rink's warming room and attracted the usual crowd of youthful bangerhauers, the park administrative officer said.

175 at forum

A capacity crowd of over 175 persons attended a public forum on arthritis given Tuesday evening at the American Legion Hall, 1925 State St. by the Arthritis Foundation.

Dr. Beyra Hahn and Dr. Dwen S. Kantor, rheumatologists with the Washington University Medical School, presented the program.

Schermer's Tells it to You Straight!

Do you believe in fairy tales? Neither do we. In the past few days we have been listening to the "fairy tales" that some Super Markets are telling. If "your store" tells you they are drastically dropping meat prices, it means they have been charging you too much right along. If they tell you that they have dropped stamps because they have some other "good things" in store for you — THAT IS a fairy tale! Don't be misled. There is nothing like the truth.

In Memoriam 33
In loving memory of BARRY JEFFREY who passed away September 30, 1972. Today recall sad memories of a loved one gone to rest. Those who think of you today are the ones who loved you best. What we would give to see you smile. Today sit with us and talk awhile. The blow was sudden the shock was severe. To part with one we loved so dearly.
We often sit and think of you. Things you used to say and do. We wonder why you had to die. Without a chance to say goodbye.

Patriotic theme at campout

The morning events at the Unitah (Tri-Cities) District Boy Scout "All-American" camp-out, to be held Oct. 11, 12 and 13 in Hazlett State Park, near Carlyle, Ill., will be known as "Be Prepared for the Mini-Octathlon," according to J. Richard Hooks, activities chairman for the event.

The "Mini-Octathlon" will consist of a javelin throw, wheelbarrow race, rope swing, potato relay, football throw, star constellation identification and a split-the-match contest. According to Hooks, all events will be judged against time and or distance with the exception of the constellation identification.

The overall camp-out will be on a patriotic theme, according to W. F. "Mick" Strange, camp-out director. Strange, Skits and songs at the campfire on Saturday evening will follow a historical and patriotic theme with appropriate songs and skits.

G. Rollin Henn, veteran scoutmaster, said patrols will be judged on an individual basis as to how well they function together under boy leadership. Henn said their cooking and camping skills will also be judged. Cleanliness, and neatness will be the watchword on mess gear and camp sites. Patrols are being asked to cook on charcoal due to a lack of wood available for the 300 Scouts and leaders expected to participate.

Members of the Leadership Corps and Explorers will assist with the events and judging during the day.

Strange reported that local units will need tour permits from the scout office prior to attending the event.

Scoutmasters also are being asked to turn into the scout office names of leadership corps members that will assist with the camp-out as soon as possible.

United Way agencies include areawide group for retarded

The Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign launched yesterday benefits 18 agencies, including the Tri-Cities Area Association for Retarded, Inc.

The association is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian organization to promote the general welfare of all the mentally retarded; to foster programs in their behalf; to encourage research related to mental retardation; and to cooperate with all public, private and religious agencies and professional groups in the furtherance of these ends.

The programs offered retarded in the Quad-City Area include:

- A two-week day camp at Wilson Park.
- Weekly swimming, weekly bowling, a recreation program, Bible classes and parties.
- Bus service for the public school special education classes for field trips during the school year.
- And transportation for special education classes' summer school.

The Tri-Cities Association serves about 350 retarded citizens yearly, current records show.

A spokesman commented that "We are now serving the cities of Madison and Venice as well as Granite City and Pontoon Beach and the Mitchell area."

"We are a member unit of the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens and the National Association for Retarded."

WALL DECORATIONS depicting various characters of interest to children in bright colors were presented to the pediatric unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital. Presenting the gifts are Mrs. Barbara Orris, president of Alpha Xi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority; Mrs. Patricia Fernandez, R.N. and Mrs. Connie Grupus, past president of the Chapter.

Day hospital here is helping many cope with 'blue moods'

Among the enthusiastic advocates of the local Day Hospital is a typical patient—a 35-year-old Madison County resident.

The Day Hospital—a program of the Quad-City Mental Health Clinic—is located at St. Elizabeth Hospital's 1930 addition.

"I had been depressed before. You know, the kind of blue mood, a low, that usually wears off. But this time my low lingered.

"I could not shake it off, especially my irritability. I was annoyed with my wife, my children, my job and, most of all, with myself. I couldn't sleep, did not feel like eating and couldn't enjoy myself," he related this week.

"Nothing I tried seemed to help. I began to feel worthless and could see no future. In fact, I took a leave of absence from my job—not sure I would be back.

"I felt guilty about having thoughts about not wanting to wake up in the morning. My wife insisted that I see our family doctor, and he could find nothing physically wrong.

"He said, 'You sound like you've been depressed for some time. I would like for you to go to the Mental Health Center in Granite City.'

"I knew about the Clinic from other people. I thought about it overnight, about my job and my family, and I owed it to them to get help. I made an appointment.

"The psychologist at the Mental Health Center was easy to talk to. He could see how depressed I had been. I had lost faith in myself and was unhappy about my future.

"I even doubted whether I was a good husband and father. I was so down in the dumps that I couldn't enjoy myself, my friends, TV or even make plans or decisions.

"The psychologist had another recommendation: 'You know that you have not been able to pull yourself out of this, and you need more than an hour once a week with me.'

"I don't want to go into the hospital away from my family, but you could benefit from the Day Hospital."

"I sure was not ready for this suggestion: Group therapy! Attendance five days a week from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Occupational therapy.

"Recreation. Relaxation training. Role training.

"I didn't need all that. 'Little did I know my life would change when I accepted the recommendation to meet a Day Hospital staff member.

The argument that sold me was, 'You've been down on yourself and long enough. Give yourself a fair chance at the Day Hospital for two weeks.'

"I began on a Monday morning, arriving at 9 for coffee, and put my lunch in the refrigerator.

"I met the other 'clients' and found myself getting acquainted. Suddenly, at 9:45, I joined in warm-up exercises to get the blood flowing. Group therapy began at 10.

"This was what I feared the most. How could I talk about myself in front of these other strangers? It seemed strange, but I soon relaxed.

"I didn't talk much and was not pressured to talk, but I felt I had a lot in common with my fellow group members. I was surprised that the morning session passed so quickly.

"In the afternoon, a mental health movie entitled 'Handling Angry Feelings' was shown. A pretty good discussion followed.

"On Tuesday, the men and women broke into separate groups. We felt more free to discuss some things that involved some concerns.

"In the p.m., I learned some techniques for relaxing. That would take some practice, but how I needed it!

"During a socialization period, I found myself enjoying a spirited card game. By Wednesday, I began to feel something taking shape in my feelings.

"I talked about myself and felt better, especially when group members were encouraging and understanding.

"On Wednesday afternoon, volleyball at the YMCA found me tiring and wondering when I had last used my muscles. I began to enjoy this physical exertion.

"Thursday morning warm-up exercises found me a bit stiff. The role playing group opened my eyes to something about my self-image. I discovered that I had been putting myself down long before I had my recent depression.

"That afternoon, I met the doctor at the Day Hospital and he prescribed some medicine to help my moods.

"He stated what I was beginning to learn: Talking about my feelings and working on my problems actively on a day-to-day basis was the best medicine.

"On occupational therapy or 'crafts activity,' I worked in the woodwork shop and my creative talents found an outlet.

"I made a small bookshelf and felt proud of my accomplishment. It sure looks nice in my son's room.

"On Friday, I made my decision. I would keep my commitment of staying at the Day Hospital for two weeks.

"After all, coming to the Day Hospital daily was like working at a job, and this job was my most important one: to wage out my personal problems and get better. I told the group my decision that morning, and finished my first week by bowling over 130 that afternoon.

"I spent nine more weeks at the Day Hospital. I began believing in myself again and made plans to return to my old job.

"I may experience depressive moods again, but now I've learned how to cope with them.

"Many of my other friends have moved on—some are back to work or in school, some are training and a few have moved and I've lost touch with them.

"But, I trust they'll make it, as I will."

Those seeking information about the Day Hospital may telephone 877-6668, the staff reports.

Responsibility of nuclear incident necessary—Price

Cong. Melvin Price, D. 23rd district, during House consideration last week of the conference report on extending the Price-Anderson nuclear insurance program told his colleagues that adequate insurance protection is necessary, particularly at the present time when the contributions of nuclear energy are so essential to meeting the challenges of the energy crisis.

The legislation calls for a phase-out of government spending to be replaced by a mandatory insurance system for all licensees of nuclear reactors. In addition, the legislation provides for a transfer to the nuclear industry of "full responsibility for protection for the public from the losses from a nuclear incident."

In a statement marking the 20th anniversary of the First Continental Congress, Rep. Price made note of the parallel problems of the two Congresses.

"Two hundred years ago, our nation faced a future full of unknowns: the economy was in flux, and a change in the role of government had just been made. In short, the Continental Congress' task was to first prove the worth of the nation. Likewise, the 53rd Congress has faced problems which would have torn apart a nation made of less sturdy stuff."

"Thomas Jefferson stated, 'To give praise which is not due might be well from the vernal, but would ill beseech those who are asserting the rights of human nature.' I can truly say that we will survive our temporary trials and find ourselves a stronger nation for this assertion of the basic rights which are the foundation of our country."

REP. HORACE CALVO

JOE E. LUCCO

EVERETT STEELE

REP. ROBERT WALTERS

Horace L. Calvo, who resides with his family at 3254 Westchester Drive, Granite City, is a Democratic candidate for state representative, seeking a fourth consecutive two-year term in the Illinois House, Nov. 5.

An attorney with offices at 1050 State St., he has been engaged in the practice of law in Granite City for the past 18 years.

He has been active in civic programs, having aided youth and sports programs of the park district, and has been vice-president of the Human Relations Commission.

He served with Attorney General William G. Clark for eight years as a special assistant attorney general of Illinois.

Calvo has been the attorney for District 34 of the United Steelworkers of America. He is a member of the Tri-City Bar Association, having served the association as treasurer and president.

He also is a member of the Madison County Bar Association, serving on its judiciary committee, and a member of the Illinois State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

A World War II veteran, Calvo has been a member of American Legion Post 113, Amvets Post 51, Elks Lodge 1083 and Knights of Columbus Tri-Cities Council 1088. He has served in the offices of secretary, vice-president and president of the Granite City Democratic Club.

He cites his experience in the state legislature and his knowledge of the lawmaking practice.

He has been active in seeking passage of new laws considered of benefit to the public, and also has maintained an active liaison between local residents and state agencies and departments.

Joe E. Lucco, former Edwardsville teacher, coach and school administrator on the staff of the Madison County Educational Service Region, is a Democratic nominee as state representative in the Nov. 5 voting.

A native of Pocahontas, he and his wife have a daughter who is active in school programs in Evanston and a son who is a lawyer in Texas.

Lucco is a graduate of Greenville College and holds a master degree from the University of Illinois, majoring in history, economics and political science.

He has been active in the Democratic party since 1934. He was president of the Young Democratic Club in 1938 but also worked for an elective office until the 1974 primary.

An educator 40 years, he pledges to establish an office with hours enabling constituents to voice their opinions to him.

He favors no-fault insurance, registration of handguns, the death penalty for certain crimes, equal rights for women, disclosure of campaign gifts, full funding of the teacher retirement program, election rather than retention of judges, and industrial use of high-sulfur coal during the energy crisis.

Lucco opposes abortions and also busing of students to balance enrollments.

He favors submitting more issues to voters for their approval.

He wants the state to assume a larger share of school costs, and to replace the property tax system. He would work for "a more effective method of collective bargaining to prevent school closings."

Lucco favors a half-cent reduction in the state sales tax as a way to aid large families with low income.

He favors eliminating cumulative voting, with each of the present Illinois House districts represented by two rather than three persons.

Everett G. Steele, 44, who has been active in real estate in Granite City, Nameoki Township and the Troy-Edwardsville-Glen Carbon area, is a Republican state representative nominee on the Nov. 5 ballot.

A lifelong Madison County resident, Steele was born in Granite City and resided in the Quad-City area until moving to Edwardsville Township, Rural Route One, Glen Carbon, ten years ago.

For the past 20 years he has been associated with the Steele-Kunemann Agency, 1318 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, as a broker and realtor.

His current offices are chairman of the Glen Carbon Zoning Board, chairman of the Granite City Realtors' Multiple Listing Committee and Committee on Ethics and Professional Standards.

He is president of the United Chapel non-denominational congregation in Nameoki Township and committeeman of Edwardsville Precinct Eight.

He is a member of Masonic Lodge 877, the DeMolay Legion of Honor, James Stuart DeMolay Chapter Advisory Board and East St. Louis Commandery 81.

He and his wife, Josephine, have two sons, Bryan, 12, and Randall, 10.

Attending Granite City schools and Westminster College, he graduated from Washington University in 1951 with a degree in public administration. At Washington U., he was a member of the state champion debate team.

Steele was an enlisted man in the Army Adjutant Corps in 1951-53.

Past high priest of Granite City Chapter 221 of Royal Arch Masons and past vice-president of the Granite City Scholarship Foundation, Steele served as president of the Granite City Junior Chamber of Commerce, Granite City High School Alumni Association, Edwardsville's Nelson School Parent-Teacher Association and the Granite City Board of Realtors.

The Everett Steele Soccer Fields in the Granite City area are used by hundreds of children each year in cooperation with the YMCA Soccer Association.

Steele has alleged wasteful state practices in tax expenditures and use of state-owned autos.

He calls for legislators to not only consider new laws but also to be "watchdogs for the public."

CAR STEREO STOLEN
Billie Joe Castille, 1638 Third St., Madison, reported a car stereo valued at $50 had been taken from his auto while it was parked at his home Saturday night.

Robert J. Walters, Republican, of Alton, seeks reelection as state representative of the 56th District, Nov. 5. He has served four years in the Illinois legislature.

Walters, 42, and his wife, Jeanne, have seven children. A lifelong resident of Alton, he attended elementary classes at St. Mary's School and graduated from Campion Jesuit High School at Prairie du Chien, Wis.

He holds a bachelor degree from St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Ia.

A veteran, Walters served in the Army from 1952 to 1954 and spent 15 months in Korea. He operates a public relations and advertising firm which he established in 1964.

Specified to that he was manager of Lockhaven Country Club, executive secretary of the Laymen's Foundation of Our Lady of the Snows Shrine in Belleville and vice-president of J. H. Walters & Co., metal fabricators in Alton.

The flower girl, Laura Kozony, chose a mint green dotted swiss frock made with cap sleeves. She held a basket of pom poms and wore a headband of baby breath.

David Kozony served as the ringbearer.

The groom selected his brother, John Sautter, as his best man. Don Garner, Joe Artime and Jim Kozony were groomsmen.

'Don't waste brainpower,' women decide at workshop

Can women go back to college after raising a family and benefit from the experience? If they can, will there be jobs available for them when they get their degrees?

These and other questions were explored at a workshop recently at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville where almost 100 women gathered to learn more about going back to college. The one-day conference included a series of film vignettes interspersed with group discussion, guest speakers who juggle household responsibilities with college or a career at middle age, and a self-directed search questionnaire which gave the women an idea of what they might do with the rest of their lives.

Many of the women are housewives who interrupted college with marriage and children. "I'm a college dropout who helped her husband get his degree. I always wanted to go back to college," a woman from Edwardsville said.

The audience dived into the activities with unabashed enthusiasm. When the women introduced themselves and shared their experiences, no one exchanged cake recipes. Many commented that they wanted more out of life, pointing out the many years they had given their children. Now they wanted "a piece of the action."

Looking back on her 28 years as a "household engineer," a woman from St. Louis County said, "I enjoyed it, but now it's time for me." She wasn't sure what the women had attended college when they were younger, there were these cautiously venturing into college for the first time. Several of them were mothers of students at SIUE. Explaining her reason for attending the workshop, a woman from Edwardsville said, "I never had the chance to go to college. And I'm too chicken to take the ACT test now."

thing in writing. I love to fit words together."

Mrs. Lila Teer, a retired coordinator of university services to East St. Louis, said she wants to return to SIUE to earn her master's degree in urban studies. Mrs. Teer is in her sixties. "The reason I'm going back to school is that I've encouraged so many young people to go back to college—and older people too," she added. "Things are changing. New techniques are being developed. New studies are being made to make one more effective. I'd like to find them out," she said.

Sue Matheis of St. Louis, who was one of the guest speakers, also plans to enter the University this fall. She brought along her recorder to tape the event for her five children. Mrs. Matheis, who is a traffic reporter for KMOX Radio, said, "Researchers say that women over 40 become alcoholic, gain weight, or have an affair—I know there had to be an alternative."

Mrs. Rena Altenritter of Edwardsville pointed out that 19-year-olds do not look down on mature students in the classroom. "Young people are much more encouraging for us to do our thing than our own peers," she said. Mrs. Altenritter is not sure what field of concentration she will pursue, but she said, "I'm excited about this. I'm here with great anticipation after all those years of being domestic."

Few of the women came alone. Beth Ward of Granite City brought along two friends. "I invited another, but she sent in her money too late," she said. Mrs. Ward has wanted to go back to college for a long time. "I've sent away for my transcript three different times. And three times I've lost it," she said.

One of the women Mrs. Ward brought to the workshop admitted she would not have had the courage to come alone. "I'd have wanted to, but I wouldn't have had the courage," she said. One woman who is entering SIUE this fall is looking forward to the major change she is making in her life. "I've been sheltered for so long, I feel I must have moss growing on my north side," she said. A woman from Collinsville said she no longer had anything to keep her at home. "It's such a waste of whatever brainpower I may possess to sit home. The workshop provided the push I needed," she said. Another woman supported her with "I feel we all have a brain, why not use it? Whether I get a job or not, I just want to acquire some skills."

The University will schedule more workshops for women during the fall quarter, according to Brooks Holder, assistant dean of General Studies.

HOUSEWIVES ON CAMPUS—Women who participated in the first Continuing Education for Women Workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville examine Holland's Self-Directed Search which gives the women an idea of what they might do with the rest of their lives.

WOMEN SEEK CHANGE—Mrs. Rena Altenritter of Edwardsville, who attended the first Continuing Education for Women Workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, pointed out that 19-year-olds do not look down on mature students in the university classroom. "Young people are much more encouraging for us to do our thing than our own peers," Mrs. Altenritter said.

'Stick to it' pricing plan

Tom-Boy, Inc., a wholesale grocer, has announced that its independently owned Tom-Boy stores in the St. Louis and Illinois areas has adopted a new "stick to it" pricing policy, effective yesterday.

This policy means that Tom-Boy stores will not reprice packages that have already been price marked. When a price goes up, the new stock at the higher price will be put in the back of the shelf, and the merchandise which is on the shelf at the lower price will be moved to the front. If a price decreases, all merchandise will be remarked at the lower price, store officials said.

Any items on which the price is going to increase will be marked with tags indicating what the new price will be. This gives customers a chance to buy whatever merchandise is on the shelf at the lower price, they added.

"We have surveyed consumers and found repricing to be great concern to them, especially today when many prices are increasing but few are decreasing," a spokesman said.

Today's consumer is more sophisticated and educated than ever before, and will not accept platitudes or fancy accounting terms as an answer to the "accepted industry practice of repricing their merchandise," he said.

"We are greatly concerned about rising food cost and feel that our 'stick to it' pricing policy is a most effective and realistic way to help our customers resist the inflationary pressures on their food budgets," the spokesman concluded.

BOWLING LEAGUES NOW FORMING AT THE MOR

MR. AND MRS. BURT THOMPSON. They were married in an afternoon ceremony at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison. The former Miss Mary Ellen McQuay, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McQuay, 1031 Iowa St., Madison. (Laurie Phelps)

Mary McQuay becomes Mrs. Burt Thompson

Miss Mary Ellen McQuay, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McQuay, 1031 Iowa St., Madison, became the bride of Burt Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Thompson, 1919 Edwardsville Road, Madison, in an afternoon ceremony on Sept. 21 at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison.

Organist, Jim Havranek played "Sing of Our God," "Ave Maria," Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. Sylvester Micek performed the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock before an altar decorated with bouquets of blue and white blossoms.

An evening reception was held at Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., Madison, with Mrs. Janice Dittman attending the guest book.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss McQuay wore a long gown fashioned of bridal satin. Venise lace edged the oval neckline and the cuffs of the long slim sleeves and accented the high rise waistline above a semi-full skirt.

A lace camelot headpiece secured an elbow length veil, bordered with a wide band of Venise lace, and her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations, blue baby breath, stephanotis, statice and greenery, festooned with blue streamers.

The honor attendant, Miss Vicki McQuay, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Misses Helen Zelenka, Sharon McBride and Alicia Hendrickson, appeared in identically styled Empire dresses.

Their gowns were created of blue nylon embellished with velvet applique designs. A blue satin ribbon defined the crescent waistline. White ruffles detailed the collars and accented the full sleeves.

All wore light blue picture hats with light blue streamers and held baskets of blue carnations, white baby breath, pom poms and greenery.

Austin Lewis served as best man. John Mangoff, Gary Bathon, Stanley Lapinski were groomsmen and Charles McQuay and Randy Thompson, brothers of the bride and groom, acted as the bridesmaids.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Toppel's Smorgasbord by the groom's parents.

Both young people graduated from Madison High School. The bride is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Her husband works at Relly Tar and Chemical Corp.

GC cubs tour county museum

Relating to the Cub Scout theme, "My Home State," cubs of Den 2, Pack 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Church, visited the Madison County Historical Museum in Edwardsville during the weekend.

Mrs. Ruby Harris of the museum staff spoke about the discovery of America and described the formation of Illinois in 1818. She noted the state boundaries were defined six years after those of Madison County. At that time, she pointed out, the county lines extended from Canada to the Ohio River.

Following the lecture, the boys toured the museum, including the Children's Room which features a golden eagle, arrow heads, elk, moose and deer antlers, hornets' nests and other items of interest.

The group also visited the county jail, court house and the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where two of the Cub Scouts will participate in an "Olympic" games event on Saturday.

Attending were Tom Bunte, Joe DeShon, Robbie Favier, Jim Fuhrman, Don and Ron Hook, Bradley Voss and Richard Woods. They were accompanied by den leaders Mrs. Rosalie Bunte and Mrs. Billie Woods and Bill Voss.

Den 2 members will visit the Granite City Humane Shelter on Sunday to present rugs for use in the animal cages. They also plan to prepare Halloween favors for the pediatric patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

300 attend 'I Do, I Do'

The musical comedy "I Do, I Do" featuring Mrs. Beverly Scroggins and Paul Mabry presented on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening attracted a capacity crowd of 300 patrons for the three performances.

Success in this fall's United Way campaign vital to residents, employees

Inflation undeniably is a matter of concern for all Quad-Cityans. Despite it, and because of it, generous pledges are being sought for the 18-agency October 1974 campaign of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

The drive launched last night spotlights the vital activities of the participating agencies — services that are needed as much or more in difficult economic times as during times of plenty.

Loss of buying power due to the inflationary spiral hits community service agencies just like it affects the individual family. The full $425,000 goal for 1975 operating funds of the 18 agencies is justified, and Quad-City residents and employees need have no doubt that every dollar will be put to effective use.

As is being documented in a series of Press-Record articles on the United Way, the agencies are of direct and constant benefit to people of all walks of life — rich and poor, young and old.

The challenges of modern life are many — alcoholism, poverty, drug abuse, disasters, divided families, illnesses, crime, foster children, neglect, strife, old age, hazards, delinquency, retardation.

Either gradually or with surprising suddenness, each of us can find his work, his home life, his health, or other basic conditions drastically altered, forcing him to look not only to his own resources but to the advice and help of people experienced and equipped to deal with his problems.

Even a quick perusal of the list of agencies shows that they include many programs, facilities and services that everyone needs and wants — agencies that the Quad-Cities must not lose.

Every United Way giver is also a recipient of tangible and intangible benefits that are an integral part of this warm and caring community.

Need for affirmative vote by Venice school district residents on Oct. 25

Word that the Venice school district will hold a special tax rate election Oct. 25 is good news. Financing of essential school services has become difficult in District Three; debt has been rising with no foreseeable way of altering the imbalance in the future.

The scaled-down figure of a 50-cent per $100 assessment tax rate ceiling boost is still large but appropriate, in view of the revenue outlook and the overall assessed valuation downturn.

Three larger education fund tax proposals have been defeated in the Venice district. No reasonable basis is apparent for anything other than an affirmative vote Oct. 25.

Best hope for River Festival is innovative leadership from Illinois side

Comment by Post-Dispatch — The Mississippi River Festival has been in fiscal trouble before now, but this year it faces more trouble than ever because of a sharp decline in attendance.

St. Louis Symphony concerts suffered the greatest proportionate loss; but the popular music performances lost attendance also, and the total deficit grew.

Yet other summer festivals, such as those at Ravinia and Tanglewood, seem to have survived the costs of inflation and competition from other forms of entertainment, as Frank Peters, music critic, observed.

He raised the question of whether the festival on the Southern Illinois University campus at Edwardsville does not need more imagination, more innovation, more of the meaning of the word festival to make its productions more inviting.

Then there is the question of leadership, which now amounts to a collaboration. The Symphony providing the direction and SIU a subsidy. More successful festivals are more autonomous. Mr. Peters points out, and since the Festival is an east side event it might prosper under east side leadership employing, of course, the St. Louis Symphony.

Under its glowing tent on a summer evening, the Festival is a pleasant event. It should be continued as a cultural asset, but hopes for permanence now appear to require new approaches.

Lambert area currently are adversely affected by the noise.

The Department of Transportation-Federal Aviation Administration insistence on restricting the Master Plan study to no major land acquisition is in recognition of the fact that a new runway, such as was proposed in the 2000 Plan, would double the number of persons adversely affected.

Unfortunately, residents of the North County, then, can expect little relief from the noise that is depressing property values and preventing federal grants for noise-impaired residential areas as Robert Briggs has pointed out.

The City of St. Louis cannot expect relief from the noise-induced lawsuits by neighbors of the airport, such as those instituted by the Springdale School and Daddlesdale subdivision.

The recent experience of Los Angeles, with $4.5 billion in judgments against the airport, just reaffirmed in court, an ominous blueprint for St. Louis.

Los Angeles is currently preparing a second round of appeals in a further effort to avoid paying these staggering settlements.

The facts are clear. There will be no effective net reduction in noise around Lambert Field by known technological methods. Suggestions to the contrary are not supported by the evidence.

The only solution to the airport noise problem is adequate off-airport land surrounding the airport.

The three-mile noise buffer zone at runway ends, which has been provided at Dallas-Fort Worth and planned at Columbia-Waterloo, will contain noise within the airport boundary.

Terrorism abroad gets Soviet backing

(Near East Report)

Secretary of State Kissinger's intensive efforts to mediate a ceasefire round the Arab-Israeli talks suffered a severe reverse in September when:

1. Egyptian President Sadat broke with King Hussein and joined Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization in their demand that the PLO be recognized the "sole and legitimate" representative of the Palestinians.

2. The UN General Assembly voted to include a full debate on the "Palestinian question" during its current session.

Both moves are part of a new and bold Kremlin-backed offensive to gain international acceptance for the PLO. During his recent visit to Moscow, PLO Leader Arafat was reported to have received assurances of Soviet support. Jealous of the progress of Kissinger's unilateral initiative in the Middle East and eager to maintain disruptive tension in the region, the Soviets are striving to reverse the tide of pro-Americanism in the Arab world.

Regulated to the sidelines in the Middle East, the Soviets are counterattacking by forcing the United States to the sidelines at the PLO drive to alienate the Arabs from Washington.

Jordan's King Hussein denounced the Egyptian-Syrian-PLO coalition and spurned the invitation to visit the Arab position at a Cairo meeting.

Isolated in his opposition to the PLO, Hussein is warning that he may abandon his "responsibility for the future of the West Bank if the Arab Summit meeting in Morocco in late October unanimously backs the PLO.

"The consequences and repercussions" would then have to be assumed by "brother countries of the Arab League," the Jordanian government declared.

In effect, Hussein is pointing out that the Israelis would be more likely to make territorial concessions on the West Bank to him rather than to the PLO.

Egypt's shift in support for the PLO-only last July Sadat endorsed the king as the representative of Palestinians living in Jordan—dismayed Israelis, who were hoping for another Israel-Egyptian agreement.

How could Israel negotiate for peace with an Egyptian government supporting the "heroes" of Malat, Kiryat Shmona and Munich?

Sadat further dashed hopes for peace by ruling out a unilateral Egyptian declaration of nonbelligerency with Israel in exchange for even a total Israel pullback from Sinai.

He told Barbara Walters of NBC's Today Show that Israel must first withdraw from all occupied territories—including Jerusalem—and the Palestinian question must be solved. "I can't make a separate peace," he asserted.

Design Minister Allon, who arrived in New York to head

Israel's UN delegation, charged that the new Cairo stance was aimed at "legitimation of terrorist activities."

Prime Minister Rabin reaffirmed Israel's determination not to negotiate with the PLO. "Those who directed violence... cannot be a partner for peace talks," he declared.

Israel's UN Ambassador Yosef Tekoh asked that the UN Charter would be "torn into shreds" if the PLO were recognized.

"If I would any sensible human being find it possible to take seriously the United Nations if it were to act in so irresponsible a manner?" Tekoh asked.

He said that "murder for the sake of murder" would be "triumphant" and that the 29th session of the General Assembly would go down in history as having witnessed "the equality of all nations and states trampled into dust" if such an "aberration" were approved.

The inscription of the item on the agenda is poisoning the atmosphere in the Middle East, at a time when what is needed most is a relaxation of the acridly tense relationships there," Tekoh said.

It could deal a crippling blow to the current efforts toward a just and durable peace in the area.

Their automatic majority guarantees the Arabs another diplomatic victory.

Algerian Foreign Minister Bouteflika—one of the most anti-Israel Arabs—made a blatantly anti-Israel statement as he was elected the Assembly's new president.

Kissinger's peace initiative is conducted under UN Security Council Resolution 338 in order to secure negotiations to implement UN 242.

Will the adoption of a partisan and biased Assembly resolution complicate his assignment, even as Egyptian and Soviet complicity impugn the sincerity of their pretensions to the role of peacemakers?

'Communication' by terrorists in U.S.

By CLARENCE M. KELLEY

Federal Bureau of Investigation

Terrorists cultivate fear with a cunning intent. Through fear, they hope to intimidate lawful authorities and cow people of good will to accept their frequently irrational demands.

Terrorism has no place in a free society. To defend it or to shield it is simply to glorify violence.

One contemporary writer has noted: "There was a time when violence was a means of last resort. Now it is a method of communication."

This statement, it seems to me, is particularly apt in describing the situation in our country, which during the past decade has experienced a disturbing accumulation of terrorist acts.

Certainly, despite its faults and shortcomings, this nation offers more peaceable remedies for grievances, real or imagined, than any on earth.

With rare exceptions, our country's history is filled with the records of satisfactory and peaceful solutions to seemingly irreconcilable differences.

This is the great strength of democracy—its capacity to accommodate a wide range of sharply divided opinions.

Communication among divergent views needs no rational discussion. Reasonable men advancing reasonable arguments need never resort to violence.

Yet, in recent years, there has been in the United States a proliferation of groups with sinister and militant-sounding names that have adopted foreign-bred terrorist tactics as their creed.

Thus far, this year, for example, individuals affiliated with these groups have been linked with the killing and wounding of police officers, bombings, jailbreak attempts, prison riots, bank robberies, urban guerrilla warfare, and even the posting of public notices threatening death to any who oppose them.

Surely, there are no rational philosophies, programs or grievances that need communication by such methods. While all citizens must be concerned with the indiscriminate threat of terrorism, law enforcement officers should pay particular heed to its dangers.

Lawful authority, as symbolized by the police, is a primary target of the terrorist.

In seeking to destroy precious constitutional processes, the terrorist has no hesitation to use the personal guarantees they provide to evade detection, apprehension and prosecution for his crimes.

There is another grave danger in terrorism to which all law enforcement officers must be ever alert.

That is the tendency for persistent acts of violence to be met with countervailing acts of violence.

The inability of authorized law enforcement agencies to cope with terrorist acts spawns, as we have seen elsewhere in the world, counterterrorist movements, which only fan the flames of violence and further erode personal freedoms.

The law enforcement profession should take a hard look at its capability to stop the growth of terrorism.

The FBI Academy has held several symposiums on various aspects of this threat. More will be held.

Several hundred training conferences have been conducted throughout the nation this year by FBI personnel with local, state and other federal law enforcement agencies.

It is a fact against which public support and all the skill and determination at our command are required.

Alton dam replacement delay damages taxpayers

Alton Telegraph — Col. Guy Jester, senior retired civil construction company vice president, who formerly was chief of the St. Louis District, U.S. Corps of Engineers, revealed some thought-provoking points at his Alton presentation to discuss the Alton Lock and Dam court case.

Calling for financial and statistical help in an effort to help the coalition seeking to intervene on behalf of pro-lock and dam forces, Jester said a 12-foot channel up the Mississippi River is "not cost beneficial" and one up the Illinois River is not either.

As we understand them, points by the Sierra Club argue the sill depth in the proposed lock and dam is engineered so a 12-foot channel can be started. They argue the first lock and dam would be only "openers," with all the rest needing replacement, too.

The argument goes that wing dikes would be needed to keep water of sufficient depth in the 12-foot channel, and fishing and wildlife would be lost along the Mississippi Flyway, greatest of its kind in the world, would be sorely affected.

Jester said 60 per cent of the river traffic goes up the Illinois River at Graton and 40 per cent up the Mississippi.

And, he said, the Alton Lock and Dam replacement doesn't mean replacement of all others in agreement toward a 12-foot channel.

"You can't build a 12-foot channel without authorization from Congress," he added. "If you do, you go to jail. It's that simple."

Jester feels river commerce would increase whether the lock and dam are built, and thus, continued silt from propwash would settle in the channel and isn't damaging to shoreline biological balances.

Jester feels the total environmental impact statement would cost billions of dollars, and argued the upper pools of the Mississippi are different than Alton Pool.

He says there is no comparison with the Missouri River because it, too, is different, with different flow conditions.

Jester suggested pro-dam interests check the record of Federal Judge Austin and see how many times he's been overturned by higher courts, intimating the judge is biased. Soliciting support from Alton area businessmen, Jester said a legal battle would be waged by taxpayers "because we're not well represented by the Justice Department lawyers" who predicted it would take a year to prepare the case for trial.

A two-pronged effort will be made by the Lock & Dam Reconstruction Steering committee, including:

1. Legislative approach with similar bills to the Alaska pipeline legislation; meetings are scheduled with Missouri and Illinois legislative delegations in Congress to brief them.

2. The courts, through which a possible taxpayers' suit against plaintiffs (railroads, Sierra Club) will be investigated, suing for damages. In a similar case, labor and the AFL-CIO in Florida won damages of $125 million on a power plant delay.

Jester urged people to deliver "all the facts we can get to the impact on your community and business."

In his Alton visit, Col. Jester unveiled expansive views of the power struggle in the lock and dam program.

He gave insight, too, on the court case through which all planning and other movement toward a construction start are simply put on the shelf.

Continuing study by all groups with economic information should bear forth what impact the hold-up will produce.

And, compromise may be reached which will satisfy environmental interests as well as shipping interests.

Young aspirant can handle board post

To the Editor:

It is good to know that young adults are taking interest in our political system. Mike Briggs is definitely qualified to handle a post on the County Board for District 26.

In my opinion, Mike could teach some of the older political "fat cats" how an efficient government can be run.

I believe that the present administration has not been completely open and truthful to the people and I believe the people deserve more respect from those they have elected.

Mike Briggs has proven to me that he is an honest and sensitive person. This is the kind of person who can talk with people about problems and possible solutions.

He is not the kind of person who talks "at" people with nothing new to say, which seems to be the problem today in District 26.

I urge the people of District 26 to seriously consider their choice for County Board candidate. Mike Briggs can handle the job.

Still feels ignored by government

To the Editor:

I would like to know why the people living behind the mill along East 20th Street are always being ignored.

A good example is an empty lot at 20th and Park. It has a pile of trash on it.

Department, and all I get is, "We've got it." The trash still is there.

Another example is a boarded-up house, which is nothing but a rat trap and a fire trap. I also called on it, but it also is still there.

I am going to write to the state fire marshal and state board of health if something isn't done.

The only time we are known is at election time and taxpaying time.

BEHIND-THE-MILL MAN

Noise issue big airport superior

Staff report presented to the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority at its Sept. 25 meeting:

The advent of the latest generation of jets, the Boeing 747, the Lockheed L-1011 and the McDonnell-Douglas DC-10, together with the Boeing Advanced 727-300, brought high hopes that airport noise problems would be virtually eliminated.

Despite the improved performance of these aircraft, however, airport noise will not really change.

The purpose of this report is to summarize the situation, present the facts on what persons residing near present-day airports can realistically expect, and stress the need for adequate land around airports.

The problem of high noise levels generated by aircraft operations at Lambert Field will not see an early solution. Residents of North St. Louis County can expect to be subjected to continued aircraft noise without relief, even though technological improvements may make individual aircraft quieter.

The increasing frequency of flights cancels out the effect of quieter engines.

In a recent issue of "Airport Forum," Roll Laging, a German engineer, presented scientific computations to support this fact.

Operations at Lambert can be expected to increase as airlines, such as American, switch to a higher frequency philosophy using more aircraft.

American is considering adding the DC-9 to its fleet for this purpose, and recently has been trading Boeing 747's for narrow-body B-727-200's.

Further, the actual benefits of noise-suppressing equipment, such as sound-absorbing materials (SAM) proposed as retrofits to aircraft engine nacelles, have been disappointing.

In testimony before the Senate Aviation Subcommittee, McDonnell Douglas, a manufacturer that could benefit economically from SAM retrofits, said that noise relief would be a disappointment to most airport neighbors.

In fact, the manufacturers said that "as little as a 4EPNdB (effective perceived noise decibels) reduction in aircraft noise level, which would, in all probability, not even be perceptible to an individual, cuts an NEI (noise exposure forecast) contour by half."

This means that a decrease in jet noise that theoretically reduces on paper the area of noise pollution around airports would not in reality result in any noticeable relief to persons in the existing high noise area.

The Noise Exposure Forecast (NEF) method was employed in the noise analysis in the Lambert 2000 Plan.

An analysis of this plan showed that 84,400 people in the

* Fear of the Unknown

People can be disturbed by fear of simple misconceptions and lack of knowledge. Often their fears are based on what they don't understand. Basic human anatomy, relationships of the parts and organs of the body, the various systems and functions; the range of normality; etc.

Doctors find that embarrassment about above categories is most often linked with having to admit some weakness, or—more accurately—what the patient sees as a weakness in himself.

But the fact is that people do get into difficulties; there are periods in all our lives—and more often than not our family doctor will be eager and able to help.

* Child Abnormalities

When their children have developed apparent problems, parents often find it humiliating to suggest that their child is retarded, and "is my child abnormal?"

New color design for buses

A new paint design for 240 new buses which are being purchased for Bi-State Transit was announced this week by James E. Terry, general manager of the system. The decision followed a citizens participation program during which people were invited to select the design they liked best.

For a two-week period beginning Aug. 31, three Bi-State buses, each painted in a different exterior design, were displayed for public inspection at more than 20 locations throughout the Bi-State Transit System service area in both Missouri and Illinois.

Bi-State service representatives were on hand at each location and distributed ballots to the persons who inspected the buses. The result of the vote was an overwhelming preference for the design entitled "whistler," which consists of a basic white trimmed in green and blue.

In addition to the exterior design and colors, citizens were asked to express their preferences on a variety of interior features, including seats, lighting fixtures, and sidewall material. Bi-State Transit System will begin immediately to paint all of its "new look" buses in the present fleet with the new color design.

The 240 new buses are being purchased from AM General Corp., the lowest bidder among three bus manufacturing firms. It will take approximately nine months to complete delivery. All of the new buses will be air conditioned and equipped with two-way radios. In addition, they will have all of the latest features for passenger safety and comfort.

Arthritis causing pain for thousands of Quad-Cityans

According to the current law of averages in the United States, one out of every 10 residents of the Quad-City area has or will develop arthritis.

Contrary to general opinion, the "minor aches and pains of arthritis" are considered minor only to those who don't have them.

Arthritis is the nation's number one crippler, and it takes a devastating toll on its victims. Those fighting it include the Arthritis Foundation, a member agency of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, whose annual fund campaign began yesterday.

A quarter-million children in the United States have juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, a chronic disease which may go on for years.

It may involve many organs, such as the spleen, liver and heart. Chiefly, it attacks the joints. There is inflammation, swelling, pain and often crippling.

The cause of this serious childhood disease has not yet been found. No cure has been found.

At the "Arthritis Clinic," sponsored by The Arthritis Foundation, at Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children in St. Louis, 185 children are treated regularly for juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. Many of these children reside in the Quad-City area.

In all, there are nearly 100 different kinds of arthritis—a term used to designate those diseases which affect the joints and connective tissues of the body.

Of these, only the cause of "gout" is known. Gout is caused by an excess of uric acid in the system, and can now be controlled through the use of medication.

The causes of all the other types of arthritis are not as yet known, and no cures have as yet been found.

Among adults, one of the most serious forms of arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, strikes women three times as often as men—and usually in the prime years of life, between the ages of 35 and 45.

"Lupus" or "SLE" creates havoc in the lives of many more adults and teenagers. Exposure to sunlight makes people ill. As with rheumatoid, the internal organs of the body may become damaged.

Arthritis in older people is quite noticeable. It causes "nodules" or "bumps" to appear in the joints in the fingers, and pain and crippling in many other joints.

This is called "osteoarthritis" or "degenerative joint disease," and is the result of wear and tear on the joints.

Although not as dramatic a disease as cancer or heart trouble, arthritis causes overwhelming suffering in one out of four families in the United States.

The Eastern Missouri Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation is the local "resource center" for help if the reader, or someone in his family, has arthritis. As noted, this voluntary health agency is a member of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, Inc.

From The Arthritis Foundation, people suffering from arthritis may obtain on request free factual information about arthritis and a physician's referral list—a list of arthritis specialists in the greater St. Louis area.

The services of The Arthritis Foundation also include free speeches and film showings.

ARTHRITIS TREATMENT. Along with medication and rest, physical therapy—including exercises and heat treatments—can do much to rehabilitate the arthritis patient. Here, a child with juvenile rheumatoid arthritis is tested for the strength and degree of movement possible in her hands.

Open house at Masonic Temple

The Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, will be open to the public between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 13, according to Robert Hocking, president of the Masonic Temple Board.

The purpose of the "open house" is to show the work done in phase one of "Project Renovation," the complete remodeling of the second floor.

According to Hocking, phase two of the project, the remodeling of the first floor will be completed as soon as enough money has been contributed by the members of the Masonic Order.

The Masonic Temple is a Granite City landmark. The cornerstone was laid Oct. 9, 1915. The building is in use every day of the week by the 1,900 Masonic families and the various local affiliated Masonic organizations.

Lions preparing for 'Candy Days' here

The Madison and Pontoon Beach Lions clubs will hold their annual Candy Days Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11 and 12, in the Quad-City area to raise money for visually handicapped people.

Lions Matt Ozanich and Tony Anselmo are co-chairmen of the event in Madison, and Jerry Henderson is the Pontoon Beach club chairman.

"State wide the goal is $1,000,000 and I am sure the people of the Quad-City area will do their part," Ozanich said.

"Just having the eyesight to read the story in the newspaper in support of Lions Candy Day makes one grateful for a good pair of eyes, and firm in the resolve to preserve them," he said.

"Restoration of sight among the blind, and preservation of it among the rest of us, are among the goals of Lions programs in this field. When we hold our candy days the people of the area will have a once-in-a-year chance to express gratitude for the blessings of good eyesight by dropping a generous sum of folding money or coins into the canister a Lion volunteer will hold out to them," Ozanich said.

"There will be approximately 28,000 members from the 612 Lions Clubs in Illinois on the streets the two days for the 22nd year."

Since the first Lions Candy Days in 1952, Illinois citizens have pitched in with $8,500,000. Five phases of the Lions program to help visually handicapped people in Illinois include, prevention programs, leadop dogs, Hadley School for the Blind, summer camp for blind children known as Camp Lions near Hastings, Ill., and special recorded and braille publications.

Locally, Lions pay for numerous eye examinations and glasses for needy children and adults.
